Allies' Right Wing Bent Back Before New Drive By Reds

U.S. Commander Urges Troops To Hold; Says Attack Is 'Last Gasp'

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO (AP)—The right wing of the Allies' 120-mile-long front in southeastern Korea bent back tonight before the power of a fresh Red Korean drive.

Severe fighting was reported from the shattered city of Waegwan on the central front 54 miles west of the port of Pohang.

Forty thousand of 64,000 Reds pressing the whole Allied Korean defence perimeter were committed in the northern arc battle.

The line yielded most near Uihang, 22 miles north of Taegu, hub of central front communications, and just north and west of Pohang, No. 2 South Korean port on the east coast.

Earlier reports from the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea and Gen. MacArthur's headquarters had said the Reds had been contained.

AP correspondent Hal Boyle landed at the Pohang airstrip just before dark Monday and reported the Reds were 2½ miles from Pohang and advancing against a severe naval and land bombardment.

In a message to the South Koreans, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U.S. Eighth Army commander in Korea, urged them to hold, and added:

"It is my belief the over-extended enemy is making his last gasp."

Gen. Walker made his statement after expressing concern over earlier optimistic comment from line troops and officers.

MacArthur's communique late Monday said the other Red thrust was contained 22 miles north of Taegu near the town of Uihang, above Taegu, was occupied Sunday by the Reds when South Korean forces retreated.

Heavy fighting centred late Monday north of Taegu, main communications hub of the allied Korean central front.

Four other North Korean attacks splintered and fell back in the centre and left of the perimeter when American artillery blasted them out of position.

Without discounting the importance of the North Korean smash toward Taegu and at Uihang, an intelligence officer at MacArthur's headquarters said the next big drive was not yet under way. He expressed belief that one Red division, the 2nd, holds the key to it.

More Quintuplets

Army-Directed U.S. Railways Keep Schedule

Presidents Given Rank Of 'Colonel'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroads in the United States maintained on-time operations today under the army's direction—but the labor dispute which had threatened to halt the trains still was unsettled.

The army took over the rail system at 5 p.m. E.D.T. Sunday. This was on orders from President Truman, who last Friday ordered the railroad industry seized by the government to avert a country-wide strike.

After Truman had ordered the seizure, the two strike-threatening unions called off their walk-out scheduled for today. The labor groups—the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railroad Conductors—said their 300,000 members will stay on their jobs for the government.

So the actual taking over of the railroads by the army was rather a perfunctory affair. No troops boarded locomotives or manned depots. About 50 uniformed army officers assumed a general sort of supervision under Karl R. Bendetsen, assistant army secretary.

The presidents of seven major railroads were put in charge of rail operations in various sections of the U.S.—with the rank of army colonels.

About the only difference under seizure that the public could notice were placards telling of army operation, posted in major railroad stations.

WAY NOT 'GAY' FOR SUFFERER

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Norman Hanson, 25, of 6916 Gladstone, Vancouver, didn't have much fun on the "Gayway" of the Pacific National Exhibition Saturday.

Hanson was in "poor" condition today in hospital, suffering from a fractured skull, sustained when he fell from a "Gayway" ride.

Two Hurricanes Causing Anxiety In East, South

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Two tropical storms—one a full-blown hurricane and the other likely to become so—caused anxiety along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts today. At the moment, however, no coast is in danger.

The Gulf storm—hangover of a 120-mile-an-hour hurricane—gathered new power as it edged deeper into the Gulf of Mexico after brushing Havana, Cuba.

The Atlantic hurricane, third of the season, blew up far out at sea. Information on it is meagre. Ships reported it about 900 miles southeast of Puerto Rico but its speed and force were unknown.

The Gulf storm was centred at 5:30 a.m. 260 miles west of Havana and 150 miles north of the Yucatan Peninsula. It moved slowly toward the west-northwest.

It was blowing winds up to 70 miles an hour—five miles shy of hurricane force. The Weather Bureau warned it would probably increase in intensity. Gales extended outward about 125 miles to the northeast.

Caution was advised all ships to the northwest and north of the centre.

This storm lashed tiny Antigua Island last Monday with 120-mile-an-hour winds, then broke up into a squall wave. The wave began picking up force again as it passed over Cuba. Little damage was reported from it on the island.

Mc And Mc Sale Announced

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sale of the big British Columbia hardware company of McLennan, McFeely and Prior Ltd. to J. H. Ashdown Hardware Co. of Winnipeg was announced today.

SAYS SOVIETS ARM CHILDREN

LENOX, Mass. (UP)—A former Hungarian government official said today Russia has trained "little girls" to handle machine guns and "teen-age boys to fight in heavy tanks."

Dr. Nicolas Nyaradi, non-Communist ex-minister of finance in Hungary, who fled from behind the Iron Curtain two years ago, said the military training of Soviet youth impressed him more than the Russian army's demonstrations in Moscow's Red Square.

No Word From Three In Plane

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver couple and their two-year-old child were missing today on a 180-mile flight from Grande Prairie, Alta., to Prince George, B.C.

Their rented light plane left Grande Prairie Sunday morning. Two hours is regarded as average time for the trip.

The R.C.A.F. here did not identify the family.

Operations officers said a Dakota flew to Prince George Sunday night to begin a search. Another plane was scheduled to take off from here today.

Al Michaud, owner of Vancouver U-Fly Ltd., said he believed the firm's plane had landed safely somewhere along the route, but was unable to report because of communications difficulties.

Truman Orders MacArthur To Keep Silence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman directed Gen. Douglas MacArthur to withdraw a statement on Formosa "to avoid confusion as to the United States' position."

MacArthur had sent a statement of his views—saying Formosa must remain in friendly hands—to the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment at Chicago. Later, he said he had been directed to withdraw the statement. (See story, Page 6.)

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross confirmed today what had been surmised—that Truman himself ordered the withdrawal.

Asked whether MacArthur might be relieved of his command as a result of the incident, Ross said: "The incident is closed."

Simultaneously with the announcement of Truman's action, the White House released a letter from the President to Warren Austin, U.S. representative in the United Nations. This restated the United States' position with reference to Formosa so that there will be "no misunderstanding."

Federal Ministers Have Busy Time

Ministers Will Also Deal With Korean War

OTTAWA (CP)—Cabinet went into session at 10:30 a.m. today to polish up legislation for the emergency session of Parliament opening tomorrow to deal with the general rail strike and the Korean situation.

Meanwhile transport-crippled Canada almost certainly faces three more days of the railway tie-up.

The government plans no further moves on its own before Parliament is scheduled to set up special machinery at its emergency session opening tomorrow, and today there were no indications of any among the strikers and railroads.

"Intervention by Parliament now is inevitable," a high government authority said Sunday after Prime Minister St. Laurent had received a personal report from union heads on the collapse of new and final negotiations with the companies Saturday night.

This informant said the government would not intervene further in the strike before placing its urgent legislation before Parliament, and that this had been made plain to the union chiefs in their Sunday conference with the Prime Minister.

Meanwhile, the country's two major labor organizations—the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada—came out with a joint statement saying their membership of nearly 1,000,000 Canadian workers stand "100 per cent" behind the 17 unions involved in the strike.

GORDON CRITICIZED
The statement, issued by Percy Bengough, T.L.C. president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the C.C.L., said that Donald Gordon, President of the Canadian National Railways, has been acting as chief spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railway—"the largest privately-owned corporation in Canada."

In doing so, Mr. Gordon was "determined for the sake of his own ambition and in the interest of the C.P.R. to use the Parliament of Canada against Canadian workers and their families."

The two labor organizations said they are calling on all their membership to support the railway unions "because of the extreme seriousness of the situation, and because we believe that labor, which constitutes a large section of the population of Canada, will be directly affected as Canadians by the outcome of this dispute."

The 90,000-member Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, in a resolution Saturday, also pledged its full support to the 124,000 railway workers. The resolution, signed by President Gerard Picard, said the railways were responsible for undue delay in negotiations with their employees.

Following the break-off of negotiations Saturday, Frank H. Hall, union negotiation leader, said the negotiators representing 124,000 strikers had neither received overtures from the railways nor made any since Saturday night.

From all indications today the prospects were that the trains could not get rolling again before Thursday at the earliest.

Informed quarters said the government is planning to introduce its emergency legislation before the Commons Wednesday. Even granting immediate passage through both Commons and Senate, it would be physically impossible to have the government work out a settlement and get train service going again before late Thursday.

From the time the union heads gave their members the green light to report to work, it would take around 24 hours to get the rolling stock back into normal activity.

Fur Workers' Head Quits Red Party

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Gold, president of the International Fur and Leather Workers Union (C.I.O.), has resigned from the Communist Party to comply with the federal Taft-Hartley labor law, the Daily Worker said today.

(The Taft-Hartley law, now two years old, provides that officers of unions wishing to take advantage of services provided by the National Labor Relations Board must take a "non-Communist oath.")

Gold said he had not abandoned the convictions gained in his membership of the Communist Party, the official publication of the party reports.

British Firm Urges Ban On Own Exports

LONDON (AP)—A British engineer firm, preparing to begin shipping £1,000,000 worth of machine tools to Russia, said today the British government should withdraw the firm's export license for the materials.

The firm will go ahead with the shipment unless Prime Minister Attlee acts, its chairman, Joseph Greenwood, told reporters. He is the head of Craven Brothers, a large tool-making concern.

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative Opposition, charged Saturday in a radio address that British firms were filling Russian orders, some of which were for tools "of a class required for the manufacture and repair of tanks."

(See Story Page 10).
Arthur Bottomley, Secretary for Overseas Trade, said Britain had obtained essential supplies from Russia, including grain and timber, "and in return we have had to make payment."

Greenwood said the first installment of the tool order for Russia, £20,000 worth, was packed and ready to go.

"We should complete the £1,000,000 order by the end of 1951," he said. "But we could sell these tools quite easily to British buyers. We are quoting them a three-year delivery date for tools of the type we are sending to Russia next Saturday."

Shipbuilder To Take Over As Lt.-Governor

Clarence Wallace, prominent Vancouver shipbuilder, will take over as lieutenant-governor of British Columbia on Oct. 1 from Hon. Charles A. Banks.

Confirmation of his appointment was made by Prime Minister St. Laurent in Ottawa last Saturday and appeared in the late edition of the Victoria Times.

Mr. Wallace is president of Burrard Shipyards in Vancouver and Yarrow's Ltd. here.

During the Great War, Mr. Wallace, who is father of four sons, served with the Fifth Battalion overseas as a private.

WAVE OF WEEK-END THEFTS

Pants Pilfered, Trumpet Taken, Shoes Stolen, Beer 'Borrowed'

Michael M. J. Pretty, 834 Selkirk Street, and L. G. McBratney, 978 Ambassador Street, were forced to return from their Sunday swimming trip to Thetis Lake without their trousers. They stole them from Pretty's car.

Pretty's trousers contained a wrist watch.

This was but one of a series of minor thefts and break-ins reported to police during the week-end.

Two young men spent the weekend in jail for stealing a farmer's corn at Thetis Lake.

A brass trumpet was stolen from the Four Square Gospel Hall, 891 Esquimalt Road.

While Mrs. D. Hutchinson, 617 Yates Street, was away at the beach Sunday afternoon, someone entered her room and searched her suitcase. Nothing was stolen.

WINDOW BROKEN

A window was broken in the door leading to the auditorium of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, Blanshard Street, but nothing was disturbed in the hall.

Sister Mary Clare, St. Mary's Priory, 606 Douglas Street, reported that Mrs. McLaren, Room 210, had lost a purse containing $50 from a closet. Also missing were two blank cheques from Mrs. McLaren's cheque-book.

A. MacMillan, 919 Johnson Street, told police $12, a hat and a pair of shoes were stolen from his room.

A car radiator ornament in the form of a swan was stolen from a car owned by M. G. Newberry, 408 Parry Street, while it was parked in the 500 block of Cormorant Street.

Reds Maintaining Pressure On Right

South Koreans Regain Some Loss
But Dingdong Battle Continues

TOKYO, Tuesday (AP)—The Korean Reds drove back the right wing of the Allied defence line on Korea's east coast Monday, then lost some of their gains to a South Korean counter-push. But they were maintaining strong pressure on the Pohang sector Monday night.

In a dispatch filed at midnight Monday from Pohang, AP correspondent Tom Lambert said that after having lost considerable ground, mileage undisclosed, the South Koreans edged back northward late Monday in an attempt to lift the sagging defence line. They had American air, artillery and naval gunfire support.

Lambert said the South Koreans had reached the southern edge of a broad valley leading towards Kigye, 10 miles north-west of Pohang, but the Reds still held Kigye and were reported making new aggressive moves after dark Monday.

Severe fighting was reported from the shattered city of Waegwan on the central front 54 miles west of the port of Pohang.

Forty thousand of 64,000 Reds pressing the whole Allied Korean defence perimeter were committed in the northern arc battle.

The line yielded most near Uihang, 22 miles north of Taegu, hub of central front communications, and just north and west of Pohang, No. 2 South Korean port on the east coast.

"It is my belief the over-extended enemy is making his last gasp."

Gen. Walker made his statement after expressing concern over earlier optimistic comment from line troops and officers.

REDS USING MINES FULL OF TEAR GAS

ON THE TAEJU FRONT, Korea (UP)—The North Koreans were reported today to be using a new weapon—tear-gas mines.

2nd-Lt. Paul C. Rodgers of Salem, Ore., an artillery forward observer, said several South Korean soldiers told his command post they had advanced to the crest of a hill when gas "came up with a whoosh" from canisters at their feet.

"It made them weep and their eyes burn and water," Rodgers said. "The gas spread over the entire company area."

No Secret In His Business, Says Anscomb

Fight at the October convention of the Progressive Conservative Party in Vancouver over attempts to remove Hon. Herbert Anscomb as provincial leader loomed large today.

Mr. Anscomb issued a statement to break the silence which followed a demand of Young Progressive Conservative Association that he resign as leader or resign directorates he holds in the brewery and winery businesses.

His statement indicated he will have a lot to say from the convention platform.

Mr. Anscomb said: "During the many years I have held public office it has been well known to the public that my business interests were in the brewing and wine industries of this province, in addition to my professional activities as an chartered accountant."

MINISTER OF CROWN

"During the last 25 years I have held posts successfully of Reeve of Oak Bay, Mayor of Victoria, and for about 18 years member of the Legislature. During almost 10 years of the 18, I have been an M.L.A. I have been a minister of the Crown."

"I have on numerous occasions stated publicly what my businesses are, and in 1946, at which time it was public knowledge that I held the directorates which are now the subject of comment (Growers' Winery and Coast Breweries). I was elected leader of the Conservative Party at the most largely attended convention in the history of the party in British Columbia."

"In view of this fact, it is proper that anything further I have to say on this subject should be said at the Conservative convention in October."

Mc And Mc Sale Gives Control To Ashdown's

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sale of the big British Columbia hardware company of McLennan, McFeely and Prior Ltd. to J. H. Ashdown Hardware Co. of Winnipeg was announced today.

H. C. Ashdown, president of the Winnipeg company, announced purchase of a controlling interest in the Vancouver firm for an undisclosed amount of cash and stock in Ashdown's. Staff and management of "Mc and Mc" will remain unchanged.

The Ashdown Company, established in Winnipeg in 1869, now will have wholesale and retail outlets in all western provinces. Mc and Mc, founded in B.C. in 1859, has an authorized capital of $2,000,000 in shares of $100 par value each and 400,000 shares of no par value.

The 17 wholesale and retail outlets of Mc and Mc will now be added to the 10 of Ashdown's.

CITY HAIRCUTS MAY GO TO $1

Men's haircuts soon may cost $1 in Victoria.

A member of the Victoria local of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers said today city barbers were seeking a wage increase which, if won, probably would increase the cost of haircuts. Present price in Victoria and Vancouver is 75 cents.

Haircut prices jumped to $1 in New Westminster today.

Fire In Vancouver

Retiring Lieutenant-Governor And Wife Seek Permanent Island Home

Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks and Mrs. Banks are busier than usual these days . . . They are house hunting!

Scheduled to vacate Government House on Oct. 1 when His Honor retires as King's representative in the province, the Banks apparently intend to make their permanent home here, as they are seeking a large house with spacious gardens in this area.

They may have found what they want, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Banks have shown interest in the old Lennox-Irving home at 515 Foul Bay Road, just north of Fairfield Road near Margaret Jenkins School.

They visited the three-story, old-English style house today and His Honor told a Victoria Times reporter at the scene: "I might have something definite to tell you in about a week."

The house formerly was occupied by Cmdr. H. M. McKay, who has moved to England.

Stone gateway of the expensive property is directly opposite

Chandler Avenue, where it intersects with Foul Bay Road.

The red-roofed home stands high on a rocky hill, and is approached by a winding driveway through closely-clipped lawns and gay flower beds. The gardens have many decorative trees and shrubs also.

Asked about his plans for the future, Mr. Banks said world conditions were changing, too quickly for him to be able to say at this time what he intends to do after leaving Government House.

"Even in Canada things are changing quickly," he said. "A few weeks ago you wouldn't have thought the country would be tied up with a railway strike."

"We're stranded on the island," interjected Mrs. Banks as she and her husband chatted on steep steps leading to the entrance to the house they soon may be calling home.

Planes Scour B.C. Bush For Lost Aircraft

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Royal Canadian Air Force planes, including two from Vancouver, today scanned the rugged Peace River country searching for a light plane, missing since Sunday with a family of three aboard.

The R.C.A.F.'s 123 Search and Rescue Squadron based at Vancouver identified the family as pilot Tom Wallwork of Burnaby, B.C., his wife and their two-year-old child.

The air force said the Burnaby family has been missing since 8:30 a.m. Sunday after Wallwork took off from Grande Prairie, Alta., on the 180-mile flight to Prince George, in north-central British Columbia. He was piloting a Cessna 140, owned by Vancouver U-Fly Limited. The high-winged monoplane was light-colored, with markings—"CF-EHK"—in red letters.

While the search was being directed by the R.C.A.F.'s Northwest Air Command at Edmonton, a Lancaster bomber and a Dakota from the Vancouver-based squadron were hunting today.

Price Controls Urged By C.C.F.

OTTAWA (BUP)—C.C.F. today called for immediate return of price and rent controls and closing of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The national executive of the party charged that profiteering on a large scale was evident, in a statement of policy that followed week-end meetings in Ottawa.

Wouldn't Like It But Would Obey, Says Leader Of Unions

OTTAWA (CP)—Striking rail employees will go back to work if Parliament orders it, Frank H. Hall, co-leader in the strike, said today in an interview.

"If a law is passed ordering the men to go back, they will obey it, but they won't like it," said Mr. Hall, chief spokesman for 90,000 international union members among the 124,000 embraced in the stoppage.

"If the law requires resumption of negotiations," Mr. Hall added, "the unions no doubt will comply."

Mr. Hall's statement came as the cabinet was meeting to draft emergency legislation for ending the strike, which is to be presented before a special session of Parliament convening tomorrow afternoon.

The cabinet rose at 1:15 p.m., E.D.T., after meeting 2½ hours, but at the conclusion Prime Minister St. Laurent told reporters he could say nothing on what the ministers were doing.

The Prime Minister said he could not even state whether the cabinet had settled on the course of action it will follow. It was called to meet at 3 p.m.

Mr. Hall's declaration that the unions would resume work in response to a Parliamentary order indicated it might not be found necessary to attach penalty provisions to any directives that might be issued from the government.

NOT EXPECTED

Dealing with a published report that the government might abrogate certain seniority and pension rights of employees if they refused to obey a back-to-work offer, Mr. Hall said he did not think "for a minute" the government would do anything to prejudice employees' pensions.

"Their rights in this regard are set out in the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act," he said. "This says they cannot be taken away as the result of an illegal strike."

The union leader also reiterated that the strikers would be opposed to compulsory arbitration—reported as one means that might be used by the government to clear up the differences between the railways and unions.

Today, there were no moves in any direction towards a settlement before Parliament takes action. Union leaders met here, but did not take any action along this line.

Meanwhile, transport-crippled Canada almost certainly faced three more days of the strike.

SOLID SUPPORT

At the week-end the country's two major labor organizations—Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada—came out with a joint statement saying their membership of nearly 1,000,000 Canadian workers stand "100 per cent" behind the 17 unions involved in the strike.

The statement, issued by Percy Bengough, T.L.C. president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the C.C.L., said that Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, has been acting as chief spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railway—"the largest privately-owned corporation in Canada."

25 Killed By Old Torpedoes

HONGKONG (AP)—A Hankow junk store bought 16 tons of scrap iron, including three old Japanese torpedoes from the Chinese Communist government. Workers were breaking up the scrap Friday when one torpedo exploded. The toll, as reported today by the Hongkong Ta Kung Pao:

Twenty-five dead, three missing, 20 seriously injured, 13 slightly injured, 31 houses demolished, scores of homes damaged.

2,000 IN B.C. CARRIED BY AIRLIFT AT WEEK-END

VANCOUVER (CP)—A hastily-conceived airlift, fostered by rail and shipping strikes, flew more than 2,000 passengers and 60 tons of freight Sunday to isolated coastal points. Airmen said they had never seen anything like it.

A majority of the passengers were flown to Vancouver Island points, their water routes hit by the national rail strike.

Several companies complained of passengers, desperate for travel accommodation, booking passage on more than one line as a precaution.

One official said this prevented as many as 100 passengers from obtaining seats.

R.C.A.F. Soon To Train Pilots For Britain

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton announced today arrangements have been made for the R.C.A.F. to train R.A.F. pilots and navigators in Canada.

Potential R.A.F. pilots will arrive in Canada beginning next Jan. 15 in batches of 25 every six weeks.

"Corresponding arrangements are being worked out for navigators," said Mr. Claxton, "and the full scheme will provide for training of 200 R.A.F. air crew in 1951."

Canada now is training 100 air crew candidates for her Atlantic Pact allies of Western Europe.

Mr. Claxton said talks on the training plan started on the occasion of the Memorial Gates ceremony at R.C.A.F. station at Trenton, Ont., last September.

Shepherd Wounded In Crete's 'Trojan War'

HERKALION, Crete (UP)—Crete's "Helen of Troy," a 19-year-old beauty whose abduction threatened to embroil this island in a Trojan war, has married her kidnapper, his relatives said today.

Handsome Costas Kefaloghianis crowned her with a wreath of laurels in a marriage ceremony last Saturday in their cave hide-out on Mt. Ida, they reported.

Raven-haired Tassoula Petra-kogeorgi was whisked away to Mt. Ida, birthplace in fable of the Greed god Zeus, after Kefaloghianis, who boasts the finest moustaches in Crete, kidnapped her in front of a movie theatre here.

Armed followers of Kefaloghianis and indignant relatives of Tassoula massed on the mountainside. Troops were sent to disarm them to prevent civil war.

A $2,000 reward was offered for Costa's capture and $700 for each of his seven armed helpers.

A shepherd was wounded by troops who thought he was one of the band.

Tassoula's father, Georges Petrakogeorgi, arrived in Athens today. He planned to ask Premier Sophocles Venizelos to help him get his daughter back.

Costa's followers warned they would start a "bloody vendetta" unless he was allowed to keep the girl.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

MAKING BEAUTY PAY

AS I HAPPEN to possess one of those faces that only a mother could love and which would need soling and healing to make it look anything, I have never been a patron of the beauty parlors. And only once in my chequered career have I ever undergone one of these mysterious operations called a "facial." As I couldn't see any appreciable improvement in my weatherbeaten countenance I didn't repeat the process—which, no doubt, is obvious to the initiated!

Apparently the great majority of my fellow-women don't think as I do—which is, perhaps, as well for them. For the door of the beauty parlor seems to be the door to success—that is, for the person who supplies the packs and paste, the lotions and creams, the powders and pomades that are applied therein.

MISSED MY VOCATION

IN FACT, after reading the success stories of two Canadian-born women who started on the proverbial shoestring and finished up with millions in the beauty business, I am forced to the conclusion that I missed my vocation when I went into newspaper work.

Take Martha Matilda Harper, for instance, who died in her home in Rochester, N.Y., the other day at the age of 82 years. Her "shoestring" was an ordinary kitchen jug, in which she made a hair shampoo on a formula learned from her mother in an Ontario farm home. But the daughter made it in the shed of the parson's home in Rochester where she was employed as a domestic servant in the late '80's.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR

WHAT STARTED it all was her own head of long, well-kept hair which reached almost to the floor and excited comment from the members of the parson's congregation. When they discovered the secret, they begged her to give them the shampoo. So she took to making it up for sale, with such success that she finally left service and went into business—still using the kitchen jug.

Miss Harper also had the advantage of valuable—and free—advertising from Susan B. Anthony, the American pioneer champion of woman's rights, who extolled the ex-housemaid's courage and initiative from many a public platform.

From that humble beginning, Miss Harper launched out as a pioneer in the beauty business and did so well that, when she died a week or so ago, she left a beauty preparation firm which runs no less than 350 shops throughout Canada, the United States, South America and Europe.

BEAUTY BEGINS AT 40

ANOTHER WOMAN who has made beauty pay her dividends in millions is Elizabeth Arden—who was born Florence Nightingale Graham, daughter of a market-gardener who lived just outside Toronto. For two weeks she justified her name by starting training as a nurse in a Toronto hospital, then decided she would rather try to make healthy people look more radiant, than help to make sick people well.

For 40 years she has been capitalizing on her idea that beauty begins at 40. And so well has she persuaded women of that age and over that her creams and lotions, powders and packs, formulae and froth will do the trick, that it is not long since she turned down a $17,000,000 offer for the business that started in a single room.

GOT TO FIGHT

BUT ALTHOUGH these two women made a mint of money out of woman's yearning to be more beautiful than Nature arranged for her to be, it is only fair to say that neither of them made it without hard work. Elizabeth Arden who, nearing 60, is a walking advertisement for her own wares, essentially feminine and a mere wisp of a woman barely five feet high in her shoes, told a London newsman who interviewed her recently that the only way to succeed is to "get out in front and go, go, go!" To which she added: "To get along in this world you've got to fight, fight, fight!"

And apparently that formula for success holds good in the beauty business, just as it does in the less ornamental undertakings which have made millionaires.

Rearming Germany Said A Necessity

Western Zone Chancellor Urges Force Equal To Soviet Sector

By WALTER G. RUNDLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT—Five years after they crushed Germany's military might, disarmed her soldiers and dismantled her war plants, the western powers today face the almost inevitable necessity of deciding to place guns in the hands of German soldiers again.

The question now is less whether to make that step than one of timing and the form German rearmament shall take.

Korean Communist tanks streaming across the 38th parallel on June 25 shocked occupier and occupied into a sense of frightening urgency. The parallel between Korea and Germany, both divided cold-war camps, was inescapable.

From the two months of increasingly open discussion of the problems that have followed the outbreak of the Korean war, these facts emerge:

DEFENCELESS

1. Democratic and unarmed West Germany is hopelessly unable to defend herself against a Korean-type invasion by the large, well-armed and growing Communist East German "People's police" army.

2. Democratic West Europe is hopelessly unable to defend itself against attack by the Soviet army—even with presently available American and other help.

3. West Germany has Europe's greatest reservoir of militarily-trained manpower, without which West Europe's ability to build in time an armed force sufficient to prevent or repel Soviet attack is seriously doubted.

TABU TOPIC

The once tabu topic of German rearmament and West Germany's role in West Europe's defense has emerged from the closed war-rooms of the military planners to the open forum of the Council of Europe at Strasbourg and the West German Chancellery at Bonn.

Konrad Adenauer, 74-year-old West German Chancellor, in two public statements, has urged the creation of a West German defense force equal in size and 250,000 effective combat troops within a year.

Adenauer has hedged his demands with implications that he is interested in a purely "police" force, primarily needed to meet the requirements of internal security. But close German government associates and western allied officials are convinced that what the politically canny Chancellor really wants is a German army, or at least powerful German contingents in a European armed force.

LENEX, Mass. (UP)—A former Hungarian government official said today Russia has trained "little girls" to handle machine guns and teen-age boys to fight in heavy tanks.

Dr. Nicolas Nyaradi, non-Communist ex-minister of finance in Hungary, who fled from behind the Iron Curtain two years ago, said the military training of Soviet youth impressed him more than the Russian army's demonstrations in Moscow's Red Square.

Gulf Hurricane 85 Miles An Hour

Smaller Storm Lashes Atlantic About 1,800 Miles East Of Miami

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Gulf storm located about 450 miles south of Pensacola, Fla., increased to hurricane force during the night.

The New Orleans weather bureau today said winds of 75 to 85 miles an hour extend out about 70 miles on the north and northeast sides of the hurricane. Gales extended outward about 125 miles northeast.

Army-Directed U.S. Railways Keep Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—

Railroads in the United States maintained on-time operations today under the army's direction—but the labor dispute which had threatened to halt the trains still was unsettled.

The army took over the rail system at 5 p.m. E.D.T. Sunday. This was on orders from President Truman, who last Friday ordered the railroad industry seized by the government to avert a country-wide strike.

After Truman had ordered the seizure, the two strike-threatening unions called off their walk-out scheduled for today. The labor groups—the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors—said their 300,000 members will stay on their jobs for the government.

So the actual taking over of the railroads by the army was rather a perfunctory affair. No troops boarded locomotives or manned depots. About 50 uniformed army officers assumed a general sort of supervision under Karl R. Bendetsen, assistant army secretary.

The presidents of seven major railroads were put in charge of rail operations in various sections of the U.S.—with the rank of army colonels.

At 9:30 a.m. C.S.T., the hurricane was located near latitude 23, longitude 87.6, moving west or west-northwest about 10 miles an hour.

The Gulf hurricane is one of two tropical hurricanes on which New Orleans and Miami weather bureaus are issuing advisories.

The other is a small hurricane in the Atlantic about 1,800 miles east of Miami.

THIRD IN ROW

The Atlantic hurricane, third of the season, blew up far out at sea. Information on it is meagre. Ships reported it about 900 miles southeast of Puerto Rico but its speed and force were unknown.

The Gulf storm was centred at 5:30 a.m. 260 miles west of Havana and 150 miles north of the Yucatan Peninsula. It moved slowly toward the west-northwest.

Caution was advised all ships to the northwest and north of the centre.

Big War Inevitable If Formosa Not Held, MacArthur Believes

CHICAGO (CP)—The United Nations "may have peace" by holding a Pacific island defence line, including Formosa, but "lose it and war is inevitable."

This is the viewpoint expressed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of U.N. forces fighting in Korea, in a statement which was to have been read at a convention here today.

On Sunday the general withdrew the statement at the request of President Truman, whose views on the Far Eastern situation are known to differ from MacArthur's. However, before his request for cancellation reached here summaries of his message had been carried by United States news agencies and the text had been printed in full in advance copies of a news magazine.

MacArthur, in a cabled message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, gave great military importance of Formosa, last major stronghold of Chinese Nationalist forces.

The U.S. 7th Fleet has been patrolling the Formosa Strait to prevent an often-threatened attack by Chinese Communists.

MacArthur said the President's June 27 order to carry out this patrol "marked for the Far East the focal and turning point in this area's struggle for freedom. It swept aside in one great monumental stroke all of the hypocrisy and the sophistry which has confused and deluded so many people distant from the actual scene."

MacArthur said that from a "natural" defence line of islands in the Pacific "we can dominate with air power every Asiatic port from Vladivostok to Singapore."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman directed Gen.

Douglas MacArthur to withdraw a statement on Formosa "to avoid confusion as to the United States' position."

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross confirmed today what had been surmised—that Truman himself ordered the withdrawal.

Asked whether MacArthur might be relieved of his command as a result of the incident, Ross said: "The incident is closed."

Fur Workers' Head Quits Red Party

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Gold, president of the International Fur and Leather Workers' Union (C.I.O.), has resigned from the Communist Party to comply with the federal Taft-Hartley labor law, the Daily Worker said today.

The Taft-Hartley law, now two years old, provides that officers of unions wishing to take advantage of services provided by the National Labor Relations Board must take a "non-Communist oath."

Gold said he had not abandoned the convictions gained in his membership of the Communist Party, the official publication of the party reports.

WEEK-END THEFT WAVE

Pants Pilfering Tops Car Prowling Activity

Michael M. J. Pretty, 334 Selkirk Street, and L. G. McBratney, 975 Ambassador Street, were forced to return from their Sunday swimming trip to Thetis Lake without their trousers. Thieves stole them from Pretty's car.

Pretty's trousers contained a wrist watch. This was but one of a series of minor thefts and break-ins reported to police during the week-end.

Two young men spent the week-end in jail for stealing a farmer's corn at Thetis Lake. A brass trumpet was stolen from the Four Square Gospel Hall, 891 Esquimalt Road.

While Mrs. D. Hutchinson, 617 Yates Street, was away at the beach Sunday afternoon, someone entered her room and searched her suitcase. Nothing was stolen.

WINDOW BROKEN

A window was broken in the door leading to the auditorium of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, Blanshard Street, but nothing was disturbed in the hall.

Sister Mary Clare, St. Mary's Priory, 606 Douglas Street, reported that Mrs. McLaren, Room 210, had lost a purse containing $50 from a closet. Also missing were two blank cheques from Mrs. McLaren's cheque book.

A. MacMillan, 919 Johnson Street, told police $12, a hat and a pair of shoes were stolen from his room.

A car radiator ornament in the form of a swan was stolen from a car owned by M. G. Newberry, 408 Parry Street, while it was parked in the 500 block of Cormorant Street.

British Firm Urges Ban On Own Exports

LONDON (AP)—A British engineer firm, preparing to begin shipping $1,000,000 worth of machine tools to Russia, said today the British government should withdraw the firm's export license for the materials.

The firm will go ahead with the shipment unless Prime Minister Attlee acts, its chairman, Joseph Greenwood, told reporters. He is the head of Craven Brothers, a large tool-making concern.

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative Opposition, charged Saturday in a radio address that British firms were filling Russian orders, some of which were for tools "of a class required for the manufacture and repair of tanks."

Arthur Bottomley, Secretary for Overseas Trade, said Britain had obtained essential supplies from Russia, including grain and timber, "and in return we have had to make payment."

None Will Challenge Him

WHEN RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE King, O.M., wrote a new introduction to his classic work, "Industry and Humanity," in 1947, he included this potent passage:

"A prohibition against strikes of public employees would appear to be beyond question. The community is entitled to insist upon abandonment of the right to strike as an essential condition to entrance into the public service . . . all private wrongs cease when they become public wrongs."

More than three decades of Canadian history have passed over the dam of this Dominion's progress since that illustrious son of Canada wrote his textbook on what, to economize on words, may be termed a guide to modern labor-management relationships.

It is neither new nor novel to say that the late Prime Minister of Canada knew his country and his people better than most. And the fact that he called in Mr. Louis St. Laurent and implored him to join the federal cabinet in 1941—taking this illustrious son of French Canada from an extremely lucrative law practice—furnished new evidence of Mr. King's capacity to assess the various aspects of political developments and the type of statesmanship that would be necessary to deal with them.

In other words, the man who heads the present federal administration has intimated that he would prefer the two parties to agree on some formula that would start the trains running again rather than to initiate legislation in Parliament of a character repugnant to the basic philosophy of a free people.

As this is written, however, the companies and the unions still appear to be deadlocked. Fourteen million Canadians are virtual hostages to just a few men who seem determined to put personal or organized aggrandizement before the nation's welfare.

Speaking From The Chest

POLITICAL BOAT-ROCKERS OF youthful and ancient vintage will probably continue to talk about the future of the Coalition system of government in this province until the constitutional terms of the Johnson-Anscomb regime near its end. Such controversies as may develop from time to time need not cause alarm. It is all to the good that we live in lands where freedom of expression is part of our normal lives should welcome and encourage a frank exchange of view—regardless of its quality and extent. Those who have grievances, with or without foundation, should get them off their chests. It is often much better to give them the air than to keep them bottled up.

Year in and year out, for example, "spouters" on practically every subject in the calendar of human discussion appear regularly on that little strip of thoroughfare to which visitors to the Marble Arch end of London's Hyde Park flock every Sunday afternoon. These people mount their respective rostrums and berate all and sundry. They attack the Royal Family, denounce the capitalist system in lurid detail, applaud with equal fervor free enterprise, haul the government over the coals for its errors of omission or commission and, in general, mix with the gentle zephyrs what is in their minds.

An Asset To Be Preserved

FOLLOWING THE CLOSE OF THE third season of Victoria's Starlight Theatre on Saturday it is fitting that a vote of appreciation and thanks be extended to those who, both in the public eye and out of it, have done so much to establish this annual event as a very important element in our community life. Current reviews in the news columns have assessed the quality of the performances and found it of a high order. That was a foregone conclusion in view of the "big names" of the theatre—some of them recreating characters which had gained them fame on Broadway and on tour—that appeared here, and the support which they received from the growing body of local talent which is gaining for itself a reputation known far beyond Victoria's boundaries.

Such stars as Anne Andre, Ralph Magelsen and Ernest Adams needed no introduction to Victoria audiences, nor, for that matter, to theatre-goers throughout this continent. In addition, the happy blending of Vancouver and Victoria talent, in acting roles as well as in the ballet, brought familiar faces to remind local enthusiasts of successes in previous years.

Soviet Tactic Of The Big Lie Must Be Met By Real Truth

By WALTER PARKES, from New York

RUSSIA'S most potent weapon in its long-range war to crush democracy throughout the world and replace it with a dictatorship of world communism is neither its overwhelming military strength, its atom bomb, nor its geographical position. It is the BIG LIE.

It is the same weapon devised and used so successfully by Nazi propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, but greatly refined and given vaster currency because Stalin has at his command not only Moscow's own propaganda experts, but those in satellite countries plus thousands of secret agents and credulous dupes within all non-communist nations. The Big Lie's success depends upon one thing and one thing only—constant, never-ending, hammering repetition. If no contradictory voice is raised, so much the better.

How successful the Red propagandists have been with this is pointed up by a recent discussion with members of a group of 10 Austrian journalists now touring the U.S. These men, outstanding in their field, are highly experienced, with more than average education and cultural background.

Yet even they came to America with certain ideas about the United States that puzzle an American. For instance, during their week's stay in Cleveland, they watched operations in a large brokerage house. Some of them were amazed to learn that big corporations have literally millions of stockholders, most of them just ordinary people in workaday jobs like themselves.

Experience with these Austrian newspapermen makes one realize that the Russians can give us cards and spades in propaganda and walk off with the pot. It underscores once again the vital necessity of expanding and improving our propaganda agencies to the point where the Big Truth will paint the picture of Democracy and the Big Lie will be retired from Russia's arsenal as an obsolete weapon.

Guided Missiles

By STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

A GREAT new project, on the scale of the Manhattan District project which made the atomic bomb, is now being urged on President Truman by some of the ablest of his advisers. The purpose of this new project would be to "make certain that the United States wins the guided missiles race."

There is no doubt whatsoever that the world is now on the threshold of the grim era when guided missiles will be a decisive factor—probably the decisive factor—in war. The first guided missile to be produced on a large scale is likely to be the ground-to-air, supersonic, target-seeking missile. If produced in quantity and effectively used, this weapon would render virtually obsolete conventional over-the-target bombing by piloted long-range bombers, like the American B-36.

THE meaning of this fact is very simple. The United States now relies solely on its atomic superiority to deter the Kremlin, and on long-range strategic bombers to get the bombs to the targets.

More than three years ago, this reporter and his partner made a long, careful study of guided missiles. They then reported as follows, in an article in "The Saturday Evening Post":

"From its launching platform (the ground-to-air missile) will soar in a few seconds to 60,000 feet, and there, by radar guidance, will strike down the fastest modern bomber as a hawk strikes down a heron . . . prototypes may well be in the air, here or abroad, in two to five years' time."

THE forecast represented the estimate of the best experts, given an all-out effort. And it is deeply significant that the best current estimate reflects very little change after three years—the forecast, now is that the United States may produce practical air-to-ground missiles in two to four years. This means that, although there has certainly been some progress, an all-out effort has not been made.

Have the Soviets made an all-out effort in this vital field? This question cannot be answered positively. But there are disturbing signs. For example, last month "Pravda," echoing a previous statement by Gen. Vassily Stalin, the dictator's son, announced flatly: "No air pirate on whatever airplane he might fly, however fast his airplane might fly, and however high he might try to fly, will dare to cross the air frontier of our great peace-loving country."

THIS sort of thing may be mere bombast, but it is recalled that in October, 1948, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky remarked cryptically in the United Nations that "it is wrong to believe—and this is a very great error of those who so believe—that there is only one state which possesses a monopoly of atomic energy and the atomic bomb." At the time, this too was considered mere bombast. But less than a year later, the Kremlin exploded its atomic bomb.

In brief, it must be assumed that the Soviet scientists and their captive German colleagues are attempting by every means to perfect a ground-to-air, target-seeking supersonic missile. If their efforts met with success, then "Pravda's" boasts would have real substance.

NOT even target-seeking missiles, deadly as they are, could protect the whole industry of the Soviet Union—or for that matter of the United States—from atomic bombardment. But enough missiles, properly used, could make over-the-target bombing of the most vital areas intolerably costly. This means that if the Soviets produce this missile in quantity, before a counter-weapon is found, very little will then stand between the Kremlin and world conquest.

As with all weapons, an answer to the ground-to-air missile exists in theory. The intermediate answer is the missile's twin, an air-to-ground missile. This would be carried by a conventional bomber, and released perhaps 50 or 100 miles from the target, out of the ground-to-air missile's range. It could then be guided to the target, by a radar-television device. And since it, too, would move faster than the speed of sound, it would be virtually invulnerable to interception.

THE primary purpose of the proposed new project would be to produce both these weapons, by an all-out effort, in the shortest possible time. In the last few years, the U.S. has been spending about $300,000,000 a year on a great variety of guided missiles projects, run rather haphazardly by all the services. This is now considered totally inadequate. What is now needed is a vastly accelerated effort, with all the guided missiles projects brought under a single authority, and with that authority empowered to spend between one and two billion dollars a year to win the guided missiles race. And there may be very little time to lose, a fact of which Truman's ablest advisers are, fortunately, wholly aware. (Copyright, 1950, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

As Our Readers See It

DOG LOVER

Any decent person intending to destroy an unwanted animal will try to do it in a painless manner—failure in this respect may be due to ignorance, but a person applauding the manner in which a dog was tortured in an attempt at destruction is pointing to himself as a low contemptible human being. To deliver an undeserved attack on man's best friend does not alter it to the better.

The diseased and germ-laden dogs in Victoria are few and far between, but many fine dogs and faithful mongrels provide healthy companionship and pleasure to adults and children alike. Through their love for pets, children learn kindness and consideration to beasts as well as to man. It is to be hoped that our streets are not contaminated with too many two-legged beings possessed with a mind so cruelly perverted as our dog-hater; even dogs with their fine instinct for judging man's character will shun him—is that why he hates them?

Our children do not need protection from their pets, but they need it from such influences as represented by our dog-hater.

Cruelty in many forms is at the bottom of most evil in this world—it is at its lowest when inflicted on the helpless and weak. As for the S.P.C.A. being exposed to our dog-hater's sarcastic remark to change the name to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Humans, I may point out that eradicating cruelty at its source may not be a bad idea for humanity—but if they started with the dog-hater and others spreading worse germs than our pets, he, as advocate of cruelty to others, may demand painless elimination for himself—he would be true to type.

SHOCKED AND DISGUSTED

Your correspondent, Peter Matthews, displays a callousness seldom found, thank God, in human beings in his remarks re the recent attempt by some person of twisted mentality to drown a dog. Cruelty and unwarranted suffering of any animal, be it human or otherwise, should never be condoned, in my humble opinion, by any person who is in his right mind.

I feel I must also comment on a letter signed by a person self-designated by the title "Disgusted." Like many other Victorians I imagine, I was both shocked and disgusted by the remarks of this writer.

As a Canadian, born of English parents, I naturally have a respect for England, but the same respect could never be extended to such intolerant persons as "Disgusted."

Who encourages and promotes the sale of these garish plaid caps to our visitors may I ask?

And who—if not our whole community—benefits from the visits of the "outlandish people" to our shores?

These "outlandish people" referred to in such slighting terms by "Disgusted" just happen to be part of a nation which has done—and is doing, much to make this world a better place to live in for all peoples, including "Disgusted." I personally can think of no race of people that I would rather have as next door neighbors than these same "outlandish people."

Phoney accents are not confined to our visiting Americans. I can think of other accents that we in Canada can well do without.

I don't think Queen Victoria's shadow is writhing in anguish about the dress, accents and antics of our visitors. By and large they are a happy and likeable lot who prefer comfort to style, friendliness to snobbery, and tolerance to intolerance, and the good Queen's shadow probably also realizes neither tweed suits or flannels necessarily indicate good taste, refinement or good manners. As one of thousands of Canadians who while visiting their country has experienced the friendliness of these "outlandish people," together with their tolerance and understanding of our dress, accents and customs, I think "Disgusted's" remarks are in very poor taste.

I certainly hope "Disgusted's" viewpoints will not be interpreted by our visitors as the opinion of Victorians. I'm sure the vast majority of Victorians join with me in saying to our American neighbors: "Welcome! We're glad you're here. We hope you enjoy your stay with us and hope you will hurry back again."

INHUMANE

I would like space to reply to Mr. Peter Matthews about that little dog that was found with its legs tied and then thrown in the water. Well in my opinion the same treatment for you would only be just punishment for being such a dog-hater. There are thousands of people Mr. Dog-Hater, that won't agree with your letter.

Dogs are more human than you; they are not so cruel or heartless. A dog is a man's best friend and children-brought-up with a dog are as a rule very kind children; they love their dog, and would hate anyone as cruel as you must be. I think you could learn a lot from a dog. I am afraid half of Victoria is disgusted with you, you should be taught a lesson. If it was my dog and I found the one that did it, I sure would make an example of him. He would never touch my dog again.

SATAN'S CREATURES

Anyone who can call dogs beasts, and agree with tying their four legs and drowning them, deserves the same treatment themselves. A dog is a man's and a child's best friend. They are all God's creatures, every one of them. I am afraid I can't say the same for people who hate dogs. I call such people Satan's creatures.

Good luck and thanks to the S.P.C.A. for their kindness to all animals. We need them in Victoria with monsters like that around.

A DOG LOVER.

ALWAYS WITH YOU

The tipping custom was probably started "way back" in the history of men when small wages paid the laborers roused the sympathy of those for whom they worked into giving them a few extra pennies, something they call in France "un pourboire," i.e. "for a drink!"

This habit was obviously brought over from the old world to the new world. It always places the recipient of such aims in a rather humiliating position. With the advance of democracy, wages and living conditions have improved to such an extent that the workman today, generally speaking, earns more money than the so-called "white-collar" man. The tip system has now lost entirely its "raison d'être": its reason for existing!

The Lord said: "The poor ye have always with you," and to those, one gladly gives, rather than to employees who very often are better off financially than the traveler belonging to the aforementioned classes.

COMMUNIST China's demand through the United Nations that American "forces" be withdrawn from Formosa, coupled with the threat that the Reds intend to capture that huge island, is largely a matter of bluff for immediate propaganda purposes.

However, it would be a mistake to write this fresh challenge off as nothing but propaganda. Underlying it is the undoubted determination of the Peiping government ultimately to occupy Formosa, which now is the last stronghold of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist regime.

And why all this about Formosa, even though it is a Chinese possession?

There has been considerable argument recently about the value of the Pacific Island defence line, including Formosa, to the United States and her allies. Some military experts have shrugged their shoulders over its importance.

But Gen. MacArthur has let it be known that he believes the United States or a friendly government must hold Formosa if our position is to be secure in the Pacific.

ADDED HELP

He has advocated more materiel and support for Chiang on Formosa through an American military mission based on the island.

This being so, many military experts hold that there can be no question of the United States abandoning this key island to the Reds.

Actually the United States has no ground troops in Formosa and has no present plans to send any there. However, President Truman at the end of June ordered the United States 7th Fleet to prevent any attack on the island. And it should not be overlooked that at the same time he asked Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to halt all operations against the Communist-held mainland of China.

As far as the threat of a Red invasion of Formosa is concerned, the Communists are up against not only the U.S. 7th Fleet but there are other obstacles. Not the least of these is the fact that Chiang has a large army—variously estimated at between 250,000 and 400,000. It would take a lot of doing to land invading forces in face of that. And American air power is available in that general area.

A LONG-SHOT STAB

Still, the time may arrive when the Chinese Communists will dare to undertake an assault on Formosa, for a successful gamble would win huge stakes. However, if the attempt is to be made this season it will have to come quickly, because the bad weather is about to break, bringing the devastating typhoons which would be death to an invasion fleet of sailing junks.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where a young fella in Calgary has had quite an experience in living alone but not liking it. He crawled into a refrigerator car last week for a nap. Somebody slammed the door on him, the railway strike emptied the yards so that nobody came near the car, and it wasn't till five days later that some youngsters heard him calling and went for help. The Black Hole of Calcutta had nothing on the ditto of Calgary as far as he's concerned. Being put in cold storage tends to be undignified. It may start your friends wondering if you're really as alive as you pretend. Going down!"

"In a way," said the Elevator Man, "that young fella may be symbolic of a lot of us today. He was locked up in the cold and dark and couldn't get out, although he'd gone in voluntarily. All around him, outside, was warmth and sunlight, food and companionship, but he couldn't get at it. He was just as cut off as though he'd been dead, and in a sense, he was. So take a look at the rest of us. Happiness and a good life are all around us. But some of us are locked in the dark in the midst of it all. Like the Calgary lad, we went into it of our own free will. It seemed a good idea at the time. But now we can't get out. Life is going by in the sunshine and we're as cut off as though we were 10 miles underground. We're in a mental deep freeze on a side track, and it'll take some action on our part to get rescued. Mind the steps!"

"But," said the Elevator Man, "it'll have to be something constructive. Guessing won't get us out, any more than it helped that city slicker you may have heard about. According to the story he stopped his car at a crossroads and shouted to a farmer on a load of hay, 'Hey, Cornsilk, which is the road to Calgary?' The farmer pretended to be surprised and asked, 'By heck, stranger, how did you know my name was Cornsilk?' 'I guessed it,' says the smart-aleck. 'Then, by heck,' said the farmer, driving off, 'guess your way to Calgary.'"

THE HOME GARDEN

Colchicum Gave Brock Shudder—What Of This?

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Since David Brock, in his column "Chips Off the Old Brock," has drawn the attention of gardeners to the poisonous properties of the Colchicum, there has been some speculation as to other plants falling into the same category.

David wrote that if some wise guy came along and told him he was growing some 20 types of deadly poison in his border, a bitter hatred would be incurred for the additional worry.

Much as I would dislike being "hated" by Mr. Brock, or any other gardener, it would be an easy matter to fill this column for many days with lists of poisonous plants which many of us are growing.

SKIN POISONING

Poison - Ivy, poison - oak and poison sumac are names known to most gardeners, and some also know the effects from touching these plants. Serious skin poisoning is suffered by others from such common florists' plants as Primula obconica, and P. sinensis, also the garden primulas—vulgaris, farinosa and the auriculata.

The juice of daffodils is distinctly irritating to many growers, while cleaning tulip bulbs will start a hand disease which is hard to clean up.

Other plants have a more serious effect. All parts of the common boxwood, used so much for hedges and borders, also the Christmas rose (Helleborus niger), and the false hellebore, are poisonous when eaten. The castor-oil bean (Ricinus), and the young shoots and leaves of the mountain laurel (Kalmia latifolia) are fatal, especially to children. Leaves of the rhubarb, elder, Kamia augustifolia, foxglove, larkspur, and delphinium all contain poisons deadly to man.

FATAL IN SMALL DOSES

Many common garden subjects have poisonous fruits and berries, some of which are fatal in small doses. These include bittersweet, dogwood, English ivy, three common varieties of holly, and the lily-of-the-valley.

A popular pot-plant is listed in catalogues as Brugmansia, with the sweetly innocent common name of Angel's Trumpet. Botanically, this plant is Datura stramonium, the Jimson weed of India where its culture is outlawed because all parts of the plant contain a fast-acting deadly poison. Common plants supply the poisonous ingredients for sprays and dusts such as pyrethrum and nicotine.

These are only a few of the poisonous plants in cultivation, and even though David Brock feels that "some blokes can mistake anything," the majority of gardeners will continue to grow them and the knowledge will add little, if anything, to their worries.

$100,000,000 Order For Jets

Canada Adding F-86 Sabres; Also Buying 100 Mustangs From U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—New steps to strengthen the present and potential fighting strength of the R.C.A.F. and provide it with more fighting aircraft were announced today at air force headquarters.

The steps are these:

1. Conclusion of arrangements to buy 100 Mustang fighter aircraft immediately from the United States.
2. Signing of one of the largest single military orders in Canada's history—for an undisclosed number of F-86 Sabre aircraft being manufactured by Canadair Ltd., Montreal, at a cost "considerably in excess" of $100,000,000. Previously, only 100 of the Canadian-built fighter planes had been ordered.
3. A 50 per cent increase in the authorized strength of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets—a civilian-and-military-sponsored body. Strength of the R.C.A.C. will thus be increased from 15,000 to 22,500.
4. Formation "immediately" of an additional fighter squadron in the regular force. At present, Canada has two.

ADDING STRENGTH

Negotiations which led to Canada obtaining 100 of the single-seater, piston-driven Mustangs have been in progress for some time, and in a message today to Defence Secretary Louis Johnson of the United States, Defence Minister Claxton said the move will "greatly strengthen our immediate position, pending construction of later types on an accelerated basis, and is additional evidence of the close-working co-operation between the two countries in our common defence."

R.C.A.F. officials said Mustangs are being provided by the United States to allow the R.C.A.F. to form the additional fighter squadron immediately, and to allow the auxiliary fighter squadrons to be equipped with additional operational aircraft.

Mr. Claxton said the 73 Vampire jet fighters the R.C.A.F. still has will be used chiefly for regular-force squadrons, though they will continue to be used by auxiliary squadrons.

The Mustangs will be used as an interim measure until jet fighters being built in Canada are available. An important factor in acquiring the Mustangs is their immediate availability. The Mustang, one of the most successful fighters of the Second World War, is still rated by Canada and the U.S. as a useful operational aircraft.

The defence minister said the F-86 order is one of the most important features of the expanded equipment program with the Mustang and the new twin-seater, long-range, all-weather jet fighter that program "gives us two of the best fighter aircraft in the world."

Air Cadet League officials say many of the 200 cadet squadrons have more applicants than they could absorb under the old establishment. The increase would also permit formation of several new squadrons at additional places.

Today's announcement followed an announcement Sunday night that ground-training in the air force is to be speeded up. This will be done by elimination of the theoretical instruction previously given to newly-enlisted recruits as part of their initial training.

Some of this instruction will be eliminated; some will be given at a later date. The initial training period itself will be shortened.

TWO MEN FACE TRIAL

Mary McIntyre Recovers, Returns To Vancouver Home

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mary McIntyre, victim of a brutal bludgeon attack in San Francisco, returned to the home of her father here Saturday for a rest. An uncle of the 25-year-old advertising agency secretary, Douglas Carapata, and Stanley Boulter, both of San Francisco, face trial Sept. 21.

Carapata, named by Miss McIntyre as the man who beat her into unconsciousness—only brain surgery saved her life—is charged with assault with intent to commit murder. Boulter is charged with being an accessory.

The girl, unconscious for three weeks and in a hospital in San Francisco until a few days ago, is staying at the home of her father, William McIntyre. "My daughter is feeling a bit better. More than anything else she needs rest," said Mr. McIntyre.

"She'll stay here for a few days."

Reds Move To Take Over Tibet

LONDON (Reuter)—The Sunday Times reported in a dispatch from its correspondent in Kalimpong, India, that Tibet's existence as an independent state is almost over. The correspondent, Russell Spurr, wrote that some time in the near future Chinese Communist troops will occupy Lhasa, Tibetan capital. Kalimpong is a northern outpost of West Bengal some 250 miles west of Lhasa.

Quake Death Toll In India Mounts

Latest Estimates Put Total At 5,000 With $20,000,099 Loss

NEW DELHI (AP)—The face of Northeast India still was changing today in the wake of the devastating earthquake of 13 days ago, termed by scientists the world's fifth most severe recorded shock.

Spreading flood waters pushed farther over tea gardens in Assam Province, where the quake hit hardest. The death toll was in the neighborhood of 5,000.

Minor shocks continued in the province. Millions prayed in the streets and fields.

An estimated 5,000,000 persons were reported homeless. Property damage was placed at $20,000,000. Damage to crops, farm animals and natural resources was expected to push this figure much higher.

The throwing up of the rich subsoil threatened permanent ruin to Assam's tea industry, a major contributor to India's export trade. Swollen streams, their courses changed by the upheavals, also menaced the plantations and villages with waters contaminated with injurious mineral oils and sulphur.

Hundreds of villages were under water. Roads, bridges and rail lines were sunken or covered by landslides. The disruption of transport hampered rescue work and surveys of the damage. The quake area covers 35,000 square miles.

Israelis Kill Bedouin Raiders

JERUSALEM (AP)—Ten Arabs were killed by the Israeli army in a mopping-up operation that cleaned mauling Bedouin tribesmen out of the southern Negev Desert. It was reliably reported here today.

Four Die In Train Crash

HAVINNES, Belgium (Reuter)—Four passengers were killed today when a local train crashed off the tracks near the station.

SOMETHING GOT IN HIS EYE

PORTLAND (AP)—William Hansen, 29, fell from a hotel window Saturday. He crashed through a metal roof 30 feet below and landed in a storeroom. Whisked to hospital, attendants reported his only injury—something got in his eye on the plunge down.

Burnaby Girl, 16, Named Miss P.N.E.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 16-year-old Burnaby girl, Dale Calhoun, is queen of the 1950 Pacific National Exhibition.

She was chosen from a group of 25 contestants Saturday night as "Miss P.N.E." and wins a trip to all provincial capitals in Canada.

Contestants were winners of regional contests throughout B.C.

Withdrawal Of MacArthur's Statement On Formosa Starts Wide Discussion In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur withdrew under orders—apparently from President Truman—a statement he had planned to make today on Formosa.

Without indicating that he had changed his views, which are known to conflict with those of the administration, the commander of United Nations forces in Korea canceled a message he had sent to a Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting in Chicago. He told the V.F.W. he was doing so regretfully.

The incident appears certain to bring wide repercussions, involving as it does the top United States official in the Orient where prestige—or "face" is so important.

The White House had no immediate comment. A spokesman indicated, however, that Truman might make his position clear during the day.

In Tokyo, MacArthur replied through a spokesman that he had "no comment" when asked to expand on the circumstances surrounding withdrawal of his statement.

It had been made available last week to V.F.W. officials in Chicago. They in turn distributed it to newspapers and wire services for use this morning, when it was scheduled to be read at the meeting.

However, Clyde A. Lewis, V.F.W. commander, canceled plans for its reading and asked through an aide that it should not be published after MacArthur cabled him Sunday night.

The incident was the second in as many days of knucklerapping for high officials of the military establishment who do not agree fully with administration foreign policy.

Navy Secretary Francis Matthews was rebuked Saturday

by the State Department—evidently with Truman's approval—for saying in a speech that the United States should be prepared if necessary to institute a war to compel other countries to co-operate for peace.

A U.S. AIR FORCE BASE, Japan (UP)—"This is a very deceitful enemy we are fighting," Lt. Robert R. Blank of Ft. Huachuca, O., said as he climbed shakily from his B-26 after a raid on Seoul.

"So I go in low and strafe it and it almost blows up in my face. They had gasoline in it."

THE STORY: A wave of dog poisoning is causing a lot of high feeling in the small town where Doc Fortson, who tells the story, runs the leading drug store. Nearly everything points to Roger Blesser, a postman who is afraid of dogs. Roger is in love with Betsy, Fortson's cashier, and in spite of the fact that Fortson likes Betsy himself, he can't believe that Roger is the poisoner. But Nurse Sally Barwick says that gossip, which she doesn't believe, has it that Betsy is stealing poison from Fortson's drug store for Roger to give to dogs. And, says Sally, "they're whispering that the poisoning isn't going to end with dogs."

I pushed my blue plate back on the lunch counter. Nothing, not even my own today's special, tasted good.

"You mean they're saying that Roger Blesser, that harmless postman, is going to murder somebody and that he's practicing up by killing dogs?" I glared at Sally as if she were responsible for the gossip. "That's the most awful nonsense I ever heard. You can't charge a man with murder he hasn't even committed — although goodness knows I find the thought of murdering tempting sometimes. It's just coincidence that he was bitten by a couple of dogs that got poisoned!"

"In all the who'dunits I ever read," Sally interrupted, "they call a bunch of coincidences circumstantial evidence." She looked at me then, her blue eyes serious. "I think you ought to watch your strychnine, Doc. I wouldn't want to see Roger committed for a maniac if he's just playing in hard luck — especially if that would leave Betsy without a boy friend."

Sally looked at her watch then and squealed at what it showed her. "I have to fly! Thanks for the lunch, Doc." And in a rustle of starched skirts, fly she did.

All afternoon I kept hearing scraps of conversation that told me Roger was as deep in the soup as Sally had said. From the swimmy look of Betsy's eyes I knew that people weren't being too careful that the buzz didn't reach her ears, too.

About 4 o'clock I got so fed up I picked a book out of the rentals and went back of the prescription screen so I couldn't hear any more of the carefully worded doubts about Roger's innocence or speculations about his "dangerous mental condition."

But I couldn't escape the dogs even there. The book I'd picked at random was "Tricks of the Sticky-Fingered Trade." It began about shoplifters, but the second chapter was about dog-nappers. I read about the guys who make a business of luring off valuable dogs and then collecting the reward and how they did it.

I was sick of dogs, so I chucked the book back and went home. Thinking about Roger Blesser and Betsy Sharpe kept me awake a long time that night. To save me, I couldn't cast Roger in the role of a dog poisoner. Half dotty with nerves, he certainly was — as who wouldn't be under the same circumstances?

Roger was a good average kind of Joe, I thought; Betsy wouldn't have gone for him otherwise. I suppose a head injury could entirely change the personality, but I didn't believe his doctors would have let Roger out of the hospital if such a change had been noticeable. They'd have kept him under observation and treatment until they were sure, especially if he were likely to become violent.

But the only way to keep the town from believing Roger was a dangerous maniac would be

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Businessman Hope, Studio Sign New Fabulous Deal

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope, as good a businessman as he is a wisecracker, has negotiated a fabulous deal with his studio, Paramount.

When I asked the comedian about reports he was talking over a new contract with the studio, he replied: "The talks are over; everything's set. I'll do two pictures a year, one as a partner and one participating in the profits."

Hope's old deal called for three pictures a year (although he usually made two). Two were on straight salary and one provided a split of the returns between Paramount and Bob Hope Enterprises. The new pact means that he will have some share of the profits on all his pictures.

Victoria United Entry Accepted By Coast Loop; Travel Pool Plan

By HARRY YOUNG

The composition of the Pacific Coast League for the incoming season was left unchanged by the delegates at the annual general meeting held Saturday and Sunday in Vancouver.

Victoria United's entry was unchallenged by the mainland clubs, despite rumors that they were going to be deposed, while the applications for membership from the Vancouver and District League Clubs, Collingwood and South Hill were turned down, chiefly on the grounds that they did not have enclosed playing pitches.

Victoria United's proposal for a traveling pool was partially supported by New Westminster Royals who suggested that 5 per cent should be taken from all Pacific Coast League matches to go partly towards paying for the expenses of traveling to and from Victoria. The three Vancouver clubs asked time to consider the matter which will be voted upon at a league meeting on Thursday.

NEW ISLAND DIRECTOR

Alex Hood, 2195 Fulton Street, West Vancouver, was appointed director for Vancouver Island. Hood will be a member of the executive attending all meetings. Hitherto, the island director has resided in Victoria and has attended only league council meetings. Hood is a former Victorian having played soccer here with Sons of England.

Re-elected were: James Seggia, president; David Todd, vice-president; Bill Findler, secretary, and Les Birrell, director. Two other mainland directors have still to be elected.

The season will start Sept. 16, and finish on May 15.

Russians Lift Track Honors

BRUSSELS (AP)—Russia Sunday won the unofficial team championship in the European track and field games by capturing the last event on the program, the 400-metre relay.

The Soviet triumph in the relay gave the Russians a total of 112 points. Britain was second with 108 points and France third with 107.

The victory gave Russia six points on the 6-5-4-3-2-1 scoring basis. Most of Russia's points were scored by its women athletes in the field events. Britain, which piled up four first places in the final day, topped the roll in individual titles. British athletes won eight gold medals, while Russia took six and Holland four.

World Track Marks Approved

BRUSSELS (Reuter)—Three world track records were ratified by the Congress of the International Amateur Athletic Federation Saturday.

They are: 200-metre hurdles, 22.3 seconds by Harrison Dillard of the United States, set June 21, 1947; 220-yard hurdles, 22.3 seconds by Dillard, set June 21, 1947; 10,000 metres, 39 minutes 2.6 seconds by Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia, set Aug. 4, 1950.

Two And Twenty Takes $20,000 Longacres Mile

SEATTLE (AP)—Two and Twenty, a flying golden chestnut owned by Mrs. Frank W. Brewster of Seattle, romped home to a length and a half triumph Sunday in the 15th running of the $20,000 Longacres Mile.

Eddie Arcaro, who flew in from Chicago after winning the American Derby yesterday, had the leg up on the victor. The time for the mile was 1:35.4.

Whang Bang with young Joe Baze in the saddle, finished second to make it a clean sweep for the Brewster stable. Rosacaw with Eugene Gifford up was third.

Rosacaw took the lead in the 11-horse field as they left the starting gate but gave way to Irene's Angel, ridden by Gordon Glisson, in the back stretch. Arcaro made his move on the beautiful gold galloper as they hit the last turn and was safely in front on the rail when they reached the back stretch.

Amble In, twice a winner in the mile and ridden by Noel Richardson, was an also can. Also well back were Little Rollo and Menu, two Canadian entries.

SETS CYCLING RECORD FOR VICTORIA-NANAIMO RETURN

Covering the 152 miles between Victoria and Nanaimo and return in 8 hours and 25 minutes, 19-year-old Malcolm Graham, member of the Victoria Cycling Club, Sunday established a new record for the long ride.

Graham shattered the former mark of 9 hours 2 minutes established by Jim Taylor of Victoria in 1930.

Graham suffered no mechanical trouble during the trip and never got off his bike during the entire journey. His time for the Victoria to Nanaimo leg was 3 hours and 51 minutes. The youngster was quite fresh on his arrival back in Victoria.

American Race Gets Tighter Than Drum

Credit Boston's Red Sox flag contention to the the discovery of a long-lost "secret weapon"—coming from behind. Overcoming enemy leads—something that was a lost art to the Sox earlier this year—plus a two-week stay at friendly Fenway Park, have combined to rekindle the team's pennant spark.

Currently the hottest club in baseball, the Red Sox have been catching up with the American League leaders at a furious pace. Twelve victories in the last 13 games have helped Boston cut an eight-game deficit in two.

They picked up half a game on the league-leading Detroit Tigers yesterday when they overcame a 7-to-0 Cleveland lead to defeat the Indians 11 to 9, while Philadelphia Athletics were holding the Tigers even in two games. The A's won the opener 4 to 3 and Detroit won the second 8 to 1.

Boston's triumph over Cleveland helped New York Yankees gain undisputed possession of second place. The defending champions eked out a 2-to-1 victory in 10 innings over Chicago White Sox, thanks to Tommy Henrich's pinch single to cut Detroit's first-place margin to one game. Cleveland trails by two.

Washington and St. Louis Browns split a doubleheader. After Joe Haynes had pitched the Nats to an 8-to-0 first game victory, the Browns won the second game 11 to 10 when Ray Coleman scored Roy Sievers from first with a triple in the 10th inning.

BOOST MARGIN

Philadelphia Phillies increased their National League lead to five games over Brooklyn, defeating Chicago Cubs 6 to 1 while St. Louis Cardinals were battering the Dodgers 13 to 3.

The Cubs battled the Phils to an 11-inning 4-to-4 tie in the second game of their doubleheader that was halted by darkness. The two teams play two games today.

Led by Stan Musial, who slammed a pair of homers, the Cards pounded four Brooklyn throwers for 14 hits. Tommy Giaviano and Bill Hoverton also homered for the winners to halt a 10-game Dodger winning streak.

Boston's third-place Braves swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 7 to 3 and 4 to 1. Sid Gordon's second homer of the game followed by Buddy Kerr's circuit clutch with two on in the 13th inning won the opener. Ralph Kiner banged his 40th for the Pirates.

City Hall Takes Series Opener

City Hall took a one-game lead in the best-of-three series for the Utility Softball League championship last week by defeating B.C.E. 8 to 5.

Jack Ozard, the league's top hurler, was in trouble in the third and sixth innings in chalking up the victory. He retired the Electric staffers in order in the first, second, fourth and fifth innings.

The second game of the series will take place at Victoria West Park tonight at 6.45.

Jim Ferrier New Canadian Champion

Leonard Falts To Share 4th-Place Tie

MONTREAL (CP)—Big Jim Ferrier, gum-chewing Australian who makes golf his living on the big-time American circuit, headed for his California home today with the Canadian Open title added to his profitable business.

The 35-year-old shotsmith clicked on his fifth attempt in the country's blue-ribbon golf classic Sunday with a 72-hole 271 score, 17 under par and three better than unknown Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y. Jim ended in the money in previous Open tries but until this year he just couldn't take the major trophy.

At that, Ferrier had a spot of trouble to bag the $2,000—in U.S. funds and minus Canadian income tax—as Kroll, 31 and playing in tournament golf for the first time, made him hustle. Touring the Royal Montreal course with Ferrier, he posted a final-round six-under-par 67 against Ferrier's 70.

For a time in the four-day tournament it appeared that Vancouver's Stan Leonard might give Canada its first home-bred champion since Royal Ottawa's Karl Keffer won the open in 1914, but the Marine Drive pro didn't have it when the chips were down. He led Ferrier by one stroke after the first 36 holes with 68-66 rounds but faded badly and salvaged a fourth-place tie—and $750—with Glenn Teal of Memphis, Tenn.

The hard-hitting Leonard appeared to crack under the pressure and his brilliant game fell apart in the final two rounds. He posted a 71-73 on the final 36 and was fighting all the way as his usually deadly-accurate drives went haywire and his putting was far off color.

The disappointment of the tournament was Sam Snead, leading money winner of the year with $31,593, who ended in a ninth-place tie with Jerry Barber of Philadelphia, Pa., and Tom Bolt from Durham, N.C. They each gathered in $343.50 for their 282 total.

Apart from Leonard, the only Canadian pro to finish in the money—the first 20—was Len Harman of Knowlton, Que. He shared 15th spot, good for $138, with four Americans.

Leading amateur in the championship was Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., Essex Club whose game fell apart in the final round with a four-over-par 76. Previously he posted 68-71-72 rounds.

Cooper Takes Abbreviated Racing Event

When rain halted the main event of Saturday night's auto racing card at the Langford Speedway, after 16 of the 30 scheduled laps had been completed, Dave Cooper was declared the winner. At the time Cooper was pacing the field by three-quarters of a lap. Brownie Brown was second and Vern Bruce third.

In addition to his main event victory Cooper notched up a win in the five-lap backward race in which the drivers piloted their cars in the reverse direction of the track.

Surprises Mark Grid Openers On Prairies

Saskatchewan Roughriders have found the ideal way to start a football season.

They scored a touchdown Saturday the first time they got the ball this season, and kept right on scoring them for a 25 to 12 victory over Calgary's famed Stampeders.

In the other opening game of the Western Conference, the surprising Winnipeg Blue Bombers licked Edmonton Eskimos 18 to 7.

In the east, Montreal Alouettes, 1949 Grey Cup champions, came from behind to set back Ottawa Roughriders 14 to 7, while Toronto's rebuilt Argonauts crushed the Ontario Union's Sarnia Imperials 47 to 0 in an exhibition game.

Al Bodine went crashing across Calgary's line for a major to culminate Roughriders' first-quarter 35-yard touchdown drive. Ken Charlton went for two more touchdowns—both of them on passes—and Tony Hungle got another for Riders at the end of a lateral from end Johnny Bell. Jack Hartmann kicked the four converts.

Royal Copeland, who moved west from Argos this year, scored the two touchdowns for Stampeders. Vern Graham and Keith Spithie converted them.

Tom Casey, former Hamilton

Wildcat, contributed two touchdowns to Winnipeg's victory over Edmonton, both of them in the second quarter after Edmonton had built up a first-quarter lead on a major by Morris Bailey and a convert by coach Ann Stukus.

Jacobs kicked a field goal, three singles and two converts for Winnipeg. Ken Moore kicked a single in the final quarter for Edmonton's other point.

FAIL TO HOLD LEAD
Ottawa built up a 7 to 0 lead before falling before the Alouettes. Bruce Cummings and Buck Rogers kicked singles, Tom Clavin bucked three yards for an unconverted touchdown. Then Montreal went to work.

Johnny Taylor dashed 65 yards for a touchdown when the ball went wild on a blocked placement attempt by Eric Chipper. Rod Pantages converted and Nick Scollard kicked a field goal to put them ahead by the final quarter. Pete Thodos scored on a one-yard plunge in the final quarter.

Uses Old Clubs In U.S. Amateur Golf Triumph

Sam Urzetta Beats Favored Stranahan After Extra Holes

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—

Sammy Urzetta, with his set of doctored-up golf clubs bought from caddied money, is a champion's champion.

After the 24-year-old son of an immigrant janitor won the national amateur title Saturday, his opponent, Frank Stranahan, voiced the opinion of all:

"Sam, you are a great golfer and a great champion."

Stranahan, who has won the British, Canadian, French and other amateur crowns but never has been able to nail the U.S. diadem in five attempts, was a champion loser.

Urzetta and the millionaire's son from Toledo, Saturday battled 39 holes in the longest marathon in the 50-year history of the national amateur meet. Stranahan's drive went out of bounds and he eventually missed a 10-foot putt to take a six on the final hole. Urzetta's tee shot was in a trap but was on with his third for two putts and a winning par five.

Urzetta was even par for the distance and Stranahan was one over. Frank was never up at any time, was outdriven on nearly every hole and was forced to make a half dozen pressure putts of from six to eight feet to halve holes. Four times he came from behind to square matters, but could never press ahead.

Rocks In Final Workout Tonight

Victoria Shamrocks will hold their final workout at the Memorial Arena tonight at 6.30 in preparation for the opening game of their Intercity Lacrosse League playoffs with Indians at Kerrisdale Wednesday night.

Adanacs and Burrards open the league's other best-of-five semifinal series at New Westminster tonight.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS REACTION

Americans Charged With Poor Selection, Bumbling Tactics

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Australia's eager young tennis aces triumphantly possessed the coveted Davis Cup today—and probably for years to come—after a near shut-out 4 to 1 victory over the United States which could be charged to bungling politics and bumbling tactics.

To Tom Brown Jr., a 27-year-old San Francisco lawyer, went the credit for averting a whitewash, after it appeared that the United States would not win one set in four singles matches for the first time in 31 trips to the challenge round.

Australia had a sweep in its hands after Frank Sedgman walloped Ted Schroeder in yesterday's semifinal match, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. And Ken McGregor, young Aussie surprise sensation, appeared ready to finish the shut-out without yielding a set when he led Brown, 11-9, 10-8. But Brown roared back to win the match by taking the last three sets, 11-9, 6-1, 6-4.

WEAK ALIBI

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, still reeling from the impact of the crushing defeat administered its favored team, saved some face through Brown's last-ditch win and tried to save more by insisting that the Aussie win was "a good thing for tennis." It was a weak ineffectual alibi.

All that was proved in the victory by Brown, who probably shouldn't even have been on the team, was that we probably should have retained the cup. Tennis experts, putting the fault squarely where it belonged, blamed:

1. Selection of fair-haired favorites to play in the matches.
2. The know-it-all attitude of U.S.L.T.A. brass hats who preach set book tactics instead of changing court tactics.
3. Stubborn refusal to name a tournament-tested no-playing captain with fire-hardened court savvy—and authority.
4. The reluctant refusal of players to take advice during matches.

There is no attempt to intimate Australia did not fully deserve its triumph. But the 4 to 1 licking was completely out of bounds. The fall guy, undeservedly, is non-playing captain Alrick Man. The Aussies won with a young, inexperienced team which was handled from the sidelines like puppets by shrewd Harry Hopman, a former Davis Cup ace who was their non-playing captain. Hopman made detailed notes during play, and constantly was manoeuvring his men like chess pawns.

NO EXPERIENCE

Man, a fine gentleman, was limited by experience—and authority—to handing towels to his players and patting their backs. Alrick thus became known as "Towel-Rick."

His limited authority was emphasized in the doubles defeat when Gar Mulloy suggested to Ted Schroeder that he close in on the net. Schroeder refused and Mulloy carried his plea to Man. The non-playing captain suggested such action to Schroeder, but was ignored.

"A helluva time for an argument," Mulloy snorted bitterly. Available for pilot duty are such former stars as Wilmer Allison and Vinnie Richards—but they demand authority.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER

High atop the grandstand in the third-base sector at Athletic Park there lives the A's board of judges; the most critical, the most rabid and yet the most faithful of the doctory customers who click the turnstiles for our ailing Athletics.

Five'll get you ten any night of the week with this bombastic gathering that Marty Krug won't be in the post position when entries are drawn for the A's managerial stakes, next spring though a diet-slipped Reg Patterson isn't making book on the race until past performances are recorded and handicaps set come Sept. 9.

The Edges Are Frayed

That's the day set for the end of another disappointing season; a season that started with much promise with the A's brass gathering together what appeared on paper to be a championship contender. The tissue were thin before the season was very advanced. And some of the spoiled sheets were discarded. Others were pasted together and have hung together though becoming a little frayed around the edges. But still it's a ragged sheet that will be edited by the directors this fall.

The cover portrait of Marty Krug is faded and worn. The squat major league veteran hasn't been any matinee idol with the fans even on ladies' nights though the original photograph was clear; cleared by this same group of directors who believed that in Krug they had the answer to their front-page problem.

This may seem like repetition but despite Marty's drab showing the fault does not all lie with the little fellow with the bowed underpinning. Marty made his original mistake by being brought up in an era when ballplayers were paid for playing baseball not the field. Not so today.

No Diapers In Marty's Bag

Short hours and balmy summer days of leisure leave the gate open for too many diversions from the one accepted practice of eating, sleeping and living baseball.

Marty hasn't the diaper training necessary to baby, coddle and pamper the present crop. His view is if a ballplayer doesn't give his all he has no place on the club. And this is a belief he's firmly convinced is just after spending a season in bereavement with the A's.

The boys in the back row, however, stick to their guns. It's Marty, they say. He's not their type. The odds may change in the winner book but the 1931 issue won't be published until the present race is run.

Bill Needs His Sleep

Thelma Andrews is in her spare time the ticket seller for the Shamrocks' home games. She is also the wife of Bill Andrews, the Rocks' portly reminder, who finished his first complete season in the Intercity Lacrosse League with the best average among the ball-blockers. Bill and few do not know that he is a policeman, goes on night shift this week. It follows that he must sleep during the day. So, if you are a Shamrock fan, please do not phone Mrs. Andrews for tickets. First of all you might disturb the sleep of an important cog in the Irish machine. Secondly, it won't do you any good. Mrs. Andrews will have no control over the tickets until they go on sale at the Memorial Arena Thursday morning. Bill tried to have his phone disconnected this week—it's been jumping off the wall—but the Telephone Company said no. Guess they want tickets, too.

Bob Redgrave Winner In Chinook Club Derby

What big salmon there might still be in Saanich Inlet, Sunday turned a cold shoulder on the offerings of Chinook Club members in their annual "battle of the champions."

Biggest salmon caught by the 84 entrants in their derby went 15.12 pounds. It was caught by Robert C. Redgrave, 3349 Cook Street. He won the portable radio and Chinook Club championship trophy.

Saturday afternoon and evening provided the best fishing of the year in the inlet. It had fallen off badly by the following morning, but quite a number of small fish were taken at the lower end Sunday.

"Boats were coming in here with 10 and 12 coho salmon," said Harry Peard of Brentwood Bay's Anchorage Boathouse. The angling clan was also amazed to hear about the 31-pound silver button fish caught by George Harris of Victoria Saturday evening in McKenzie Bay. This angler was using a trout rod, 250 feet of nylon line and a Tillicum plug and bottle. Dave Grey, past-president of the U.S.T.A.A., reeled in a 25-pounder.

Second prize in the derby, the last on the inlet schedule for the year, went to R. G. Pearce, 228 Douglas Street, with a 15-pounder. He won a fine picnic set, the same type of prize he won two weeks ago in a derby.

OTHER WINNERS
A rod, reel and line for light fishing, the third prize, was won by Bill Barnes, 2907 Shapepeare Street. His catch weighed 11.12 pounds. Conrad Watling, 2040 Chaucer Street, and Vern Reid, Pandora Avenue, tied with 10.12-pounders. A toss-up gave Watling the fourth prize, Reid taking fifth.

Ed Wulff, veteran angler, won sixth prize. His catch went 9.13 pounds. Constable Dick Berry of the city police won the seventh and final prize with a 9.10-pound salmon.

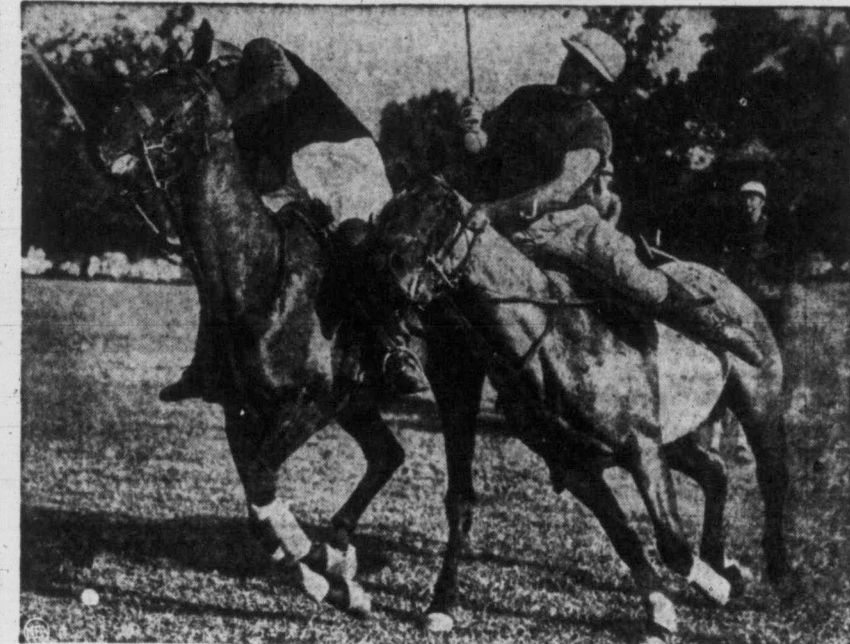

All fishermen did not find it hard to catch salmon. The Redgrave boat, for instance, scored 10 salmon.

In the special prize department, Pat Salmon, 2334 Harriett Road, won a fly rod, and Barbara Hudlin, 2727 Douglas Street, a coho rod.

Ridden Off

Jim Minnick, left, of the Augusta, Ga., team, rides off Dr. Arthur Christian, who Western Carolina won, 5 to 3, at the

Fletcher, N.C., Polo Grounds, where weekly games are sponsored by the Asheville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Ed Fong Returns To Stop Tiremen

In a preview of what could happen in one of the semifinals of the senior A men's softball playoffs starting this week, Chinese Students scored a neat 2 to 1 win over the league winners, Douglas Tire, at Central Park Sunday.

Coach Stan Tenning found another starting hurler on his bench in the person of Eddie Fong who came up with a six-hitter to lead his team to victory.

Fong had a shutout until the ninth inning when Dick Williams came up with one away. He blasted a long fly to right centre that went for a home run to tie up the game at 1 to 1.

In the last of the ninth Derr led off with a pass and went to second on a wild pitch by Norm Martin. Quinton Mar singled through the middle to centrefielder Chick Newman and the converted infielder bobbled the ball long enough to allow Derr to score from second with the winning run.

GOOD BASE RUNNING

Don Robinson scored the first run of the game in the first inning when he lined out a single and scampered around a third on a sacrifice bunt by Toy Mar. Jimmy John squeezed in Robinson with another bunt. Car Taylor followed John with the third bunt of the inning but John was caught at third trying to duplicate Robinson's stunt. The Students started off the second with three more straight bunt singles but bad base-running cost them any chance of increasing their lead, and Martin got out from under when Robinson skied out to right.

Tiremen have now completed their league schedule and will hang fire until the fourth and last playoff place in the standings is settled between Bluebird Cabs and B.C. Forest Products. The Cabbies and Millmen have two more scheduled games and a double victory for the Forest Products will give them the berth in the finals. Tonight at 6:30 these two teams will play the first of their two games at Central Park.

Short score follows: R. H. E. Douglas Tire 1-6-1 Chinese Students 2-10-1 Martin and Milliken; Fong and Chow.

Dot Kielty New Canadian Women's Golf Titleholder

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The Canadian Women's Open golf championship moved south of the border for another year today, this time in the hands of dark-haired Dot Kielty of Los Angeles. The title and the Duchess of Connaught gold cup, which went with it, was lodged on Canadian soil only long enough to pass from Gracie DeMoss of Seattle to Miss Kielty, 1950 Tom O'Shanter title.

She won the open Saturday with a 5 and 4 victory over Miss DeMoss, who won it last year when the contest was played at Vancouver, B.C. The blonde student from the Pacific northwest couldn't keep up with her California opponent in the 36-hole final.

The match was decided on the 32nd hole, with Miss Kielty taking it in par five and her opponent shooting a six.

Complete 50 Rungs On Cowichan Derby Ladder

Fifty rungs on the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's ladder derby have been completed. The qualifying period ended Saturday with the lucky fishermen to compete for the $200 winner-take-all prize in the fish-off at the bay Saturday, Sept. 9.

Final day saw five anglers knock others off the ladder. They were Ed Ricketts, Cowichan Bay; John Menzies, Cobble Hill; Earl Beresford, Vancouver, and Joe Chadwick and E. Lavers, Duncan.

Dennis Gaunt, Cowichan Bay, who does all his fishing from a rowboat, topped the ladder with a salmon weighing 38.3 pounds. Six of those on the ladder are from Victoria.

Qualifiers in order and the weights of their fish follow: Denis Gaunt, Cowichan Bay, 38.3; Jeff Morgan, Cowichan Bay, 35.12; T. K. Patrick, Duncan, 35.10; F. W. Tigers Regain Lead As Marshall Blanks Bears

If Victoria Athletics did nothing else on their road trip to Tacoma and Yakima, they can feel happy in the thought that they might have played a small part in the W.L.L. pennant scramble.

Tobacco-chewing John Marshall Sunday brought an end to a four-game losing streak as he hurled a five-hit 2 to 0 shut-out over the Yakima Bears in the first game of a double bill to knock the Bears out of first place.

It was big John's third shut-out of the season and his 15th victory. Yakima earned an even split on the day by hammering out a 10 to 5 triumph in the nightcap.

Marshall was at his best against the Bears in the seven-inning opener and never allowed

Churchill Protests Aid Given Russia

Supply Ministry Admits Tools Sent To Soviet By U.K. Firms

WESTERHAM, Kent, Eng. (CP)—Winston Churchill, in a country-wide broadcast speech Saturday night, said the Communists may soon attack Tibet and Iran, but that "the supreme peril" threatening the world is in Europe.

"Fancy going on like this while everything is getting worse, and when we are literally begging the United States for aid in every form," Churchill exclaimed. A spokesman for the Board of Trade said Britain applies strict export controls and has drawn up its own blacklist of strategic materials for shipment to Communist countries.

It sends such things as steel, electrical equipment and generators under a wartime act. "Surely," Churchill argued, "orders should be given now to stop the export by any firms of machine tools, diesel engines, and the like, to Soviet Russia. I trust that Mr. Attlee will be able to tell us when he speaks next week that this, at any rate, has been done."

A supply ministry spokesman said: "A proportion of these orders were covered under the Russian-British trade agreement of 1948, and in return we get grain and other useful commodities."

But he accused the government of "infirmity and disconnection of thought and action in shaping defence plans."

As an example, Churchill said a tools for the Russians suitable for the repair of tanks and that inspectors are admitted into the plant.

The supply ministry conceded that several British machine tool manufacturers are turning out products for Russia. As for visits by Russians inspectors, a ministry spokesman said this was true in all plants making tools for the Russians.

200 Escape, 5 Hurt As Blaze Guts Cabaret

MONTREAL (CP)—Five persons, including four firemen, were injured early Sunday when a two-alarm fire swept through a mid-town night club, causing damage estimated at more than $200,000. Some 200 persons escaped uninjured.

The spectacular two-alarm fire broke out at 1:35 a.m. from undetermined origin.

Fire officials said there was no panic although five men, cut off by flames, climbed out on the club window ledge and waited for firemen to take them down by ladder. It was believed earlier that several persons were trapped, but search proved this false.

Most patrons were in the cocktail lounge of the Carrousel, which occupied the top two floors of a three-story building. The dining-room, which was not open, was in an adjoining two-story building.

Eye-witnesses said flames were first noticed coming out of the dining-room section. Within minutes, both buildings were a roaring mass of fire, with flames shooting 30 feet in the air.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Please tell us what went wrong with us on this hand," asks a Tacoma fan.

"West opened the ten of spades, and east overtook with the jack to return his low trump. South finessed the nine of hearts and West won with the ten. West returned his remaining spade, and East won with the nine. East then returned the jack of hearts."

"It didn't really matter what South did on this trick. He was bound to lose three diamonds, three trumps, two spades, and a club. He was down four for a penalty of 1,100 points!"

"It seemed to us that South had a fairly good overall. After all, what are you supposed to do with a fairly strong five-card suit in a hand that contains about three honor tricks? If you keep passing such cards, the enemy will steal every hand."

"West's double was very close and probably a very fine bid, but this does not settle the problem of what South should have done with his hand. Was it worth a bid or wasn't it?"

It was worth action, but it was not worth a bid. South should have doubled for a take-out instead of bidding two hearts.

There is no game unless South strikes his partner with a fairly good hand. If North has a good hand he will hasten to make a strong response to the take-out double.

If North has a moderately strong hand, North and South may be able to out-bid their opponents and play the hand at a reasonable part-score contract. If North has a weak hand, the advantage of the double is that it allows North to bid his best suit immediately. This will probably be the best spot to play the hand.

Opening lead—♠ 10

If South had doubled, North would have bid two clubs. It is perfectly true that two clubs could not be made. North can expect to win four club tricks, one heart and perhaps a spade ruff. At best, he would be down two tricks.

However, there is no double of two clubs. East and West would probably wind up playing the hand at four spades or three no trump, making a game. This, however, would be a lot cheaper than giving them 1,100 points.

The vital point is that when your hand warrants some defensive action it may be more advisable to make a take-out double than to bid your own best suit. If your own suit is at all doubtful, it is advisable to give partner a chance to name his suit.

'FACELESS GUNMEN'

Red Murderers' Toll Increases In Malaya

SINGAPORE (Reuter)—Communist assassination squads are still on the rampage in Malaya, despite rigorous operations to stamp them out.

Security men call the terrorists "faceless men with guns." They are specialists in murder, mutilation, sabotage and arson, striking suddenly and escaping before they can be identified.

They are mainly Chinese, with a sprinkling of Malays, Indians and Indonesians.

Since the beginning of the Malayan emergency in June, 1948, a total of 3,392 men, women and children have been killed or wounded, or are missing.

Terrorist casualties in the same period are known to be 2,700, most of them killed. More than 100 have been executed as criminals.

The terrorists have caused 2,018 civilian casualties, including more than 1,000 persons killed. Police casualties have totaled 923, including 449 killed. British army casualties total 451, including 200 killed in action. Terrorist murders are no longer front-page news in the Malayan press, partly because of the government's "play-it-down" policy. But the casualty lists speak for themselves. Terrorist objectives are to drive the British out of Malaya, and to hamper the development of a Malayan administration that would not be favorable to the Communists. An additional motive at present may be to tie up as many British troops as possible in Malaya, and to wreck Malayan rubber production.

Transportation Strike Now Felt By Hotel, Auto Court Operators

Hotel and auto court business in and around Victoria is definitely beginning to feel the effect of the Canadian rail and steamship tie-up.

Most city hotel managers report business about half what it should be while auto court operators describe their turnover with words ranging from "slow" to "terrible."

The Empress Hotel is the one exception to the general rule. It has been busy since the strike started and there seems to be every indication things will stay that way. Business here is attributed to the many Americans coming to the island aboard the Black Ball vessels Chinook and Kalakala.

Other first-class hotels don't seem to be sharing this business. HALF FULL

"We are only half full," one manager lamented. "And at this time of year we should be full and turning people away."

Another hotelman declared, "Business is slack. This strike has been disastrous. People from Vancouver who had reservations aren't coming and, what is worse, people have stopped planning — no reservations are coming in."

Some hotels are relying on conventions scheduled next month to pull them out of the slump.

Auto courts close to the city now are noticing the difference in travel while those a little distance out are particularly hard hit.

A downtown auto court manager said the drop in business was most noticeable over the week-end.

"We have always been full on week-ends," he related. "But not this one. Only about 40 per cent of the units were taken."

Another auto court operator was more fortunate. "We filled up all right," he reported. "But it took us a long time. Yes, we're noticing the strike all right."

HARDEST HIT

Island Highway auto courts out in the Colwood vicinity are the hardest hit of all.

"Business? What business?" one operator replied when questioned. "Really, it's been terrible. One or two cars come along each night, but a week ago we were putting the 'no vacancy' sign out before supper."

"We're all hit out here and we're hit bad."

Up-Island the situation is brighter. It seems reservations canceled by mainlanders have been taken up by Victoria families who have had to alter vacation plans of their own because of the strike.

It seems also that a good percentage of up-Island vacationists are in the fortunate position where they can stay where they are and wait out the strike.

Spokesman for the Qualicum Beach Hotel told the Victoria Times business there was continuing good, and said the same seemed true for other resorts in that vicinity.

Police Seeking Driver Of Car In Accident Case

Bicyclist Barry Turner, 15, of 1243 Oscar Street, suffered a fractured kneecap and a facial cut requiring four stitches, city police reported today.

Police said Barry ran into a car driven by an unidentified driver Friday. The boy said he refused aid from the motorist and rode away on his bicycle. His knee injury was discovered when he was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital Saturday by his mother.

Police are seeking the driver of the car, which is reported to be a dark-blue 1949 or 1950 model Ford or Meteor.

Charge against Charles G. Argall, 3820 Palo Alto Place, alleging he acted in concert with the owner of a cab in soliciting a person, was dismissed in city police court today. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, asked for the dismissal on the grounds he thought the case was not strong enough.

No Change In Insurance Cost, Says Turnbull

To Review Set-up Early Next Year

There will be no change in hospital insurance premiums for the first half of 1951, it was learned today from Health Minister Douglas Turnbull.

"The situation will be reviewed early next year and any changes that may be necessary will be placed before the Legislature for consideration," he said.

Mr. Turnbull said decisions to hold premiums at the present levels—$33 for persons with dependents and $24 for single persons—was made in the face of increasing costs of administration due to a rise in wages, salaries and cost of supplies.

The Legislature at its 1950 session gave authority to the provincial cabinet to increase hospital insurance premiums to a maximum of $36.

Ask Modification Of Proposal To Widen Bay Street

Modification of proposals for the widening of the easterly portion of Bay Street, which they contend will cost the city up to $100,000, was sought by property owners in a petition received at City Hall today.

In a covering letter, E. L. Tait, barrister, asked that the petition go before Tuesday's council meeting.

The eight petitioners asked the widening be curtailed to one-half of the proposed extent "and a fraction of the monies that would be thrown away then expended in a laying down of permanent road and sidewalks and works."

Signing the petition were: Dorothy G. Ray, J. W. Watson, C. W. Rife, James R. Nixon, Pearl J. Nixon, W. C. Syrett, C. E. Clark, Florence E. Ramsfield, Mae M. Gilmour and R. Rickli.

Pleads Guilty On Forgery Count

The man who filled in and cashed one of the blank cheques stolen from the Lulu Island Peat Co. Ltd., Vancouver, was before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today.

Fifty-four-year-old Noble John Moore, Vancouver, pleaded guilty to uttering a forged document and was remanded to Friday at the request of Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor.

City police have advised merchants to be on the lookout for a series of the company's payroll cheques stolen recently, numbered from 2403 to 2600.

To Seek Major Overhaul Of Methods Of Civic Taxation

Diggon To Report To Council In Fall On Present 'Outmoded' Way

Recommendations for a major overhaul of methods of taxation to meet requirements of present-day civic administration will be presented to City Council this fall by Ald. Harold M. Diggon, chairman of the city's finance committee.

It is possible his brief may coincide with similar representations to city councils across Canada with a view to pressing home the need to senior governments of a change in methods of financing.

"I will make my report as speedily as possible, Ald. Diggon said today, following his return from the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities at Saskatoon, which he attended with Mayor Percy George.

EQUITABLE METHOD

Ability to pay was the only equitable method of taxation, he said, but added neither municipalities nor the province of British Columbia had such power. The federal government alone can tax on income. Rights of assessment on income were given by B.C. and the federal government.

"We must point out the inequitable method of operating municipalities mainly from the tax on land and improvements," Ald. Diggon said.

"The method is outmoded by requirements of present-day costs of administration."

"It must be pressed home to senior governments that other sources must be found."

Such levies as the business tax and license fee are regulatory in nature and not meant to bolster up revenue obtained from land taxation, Ald. Diggon continued.

"A brief was presented at the convention, which I heartily endorsed. It stirred all our minds to the realization that this problem should receive first consideration from the senior governments," he continued.

NOT A PANACEA

"This patchwork of special grants is not a panacea," he added.

Ald. Diggon's recommendations on civic finance, when ready for council, may then be presented through the U.B.C.M. or the national federation of mayors and municipalities with a view to co-ordinated effort across Canada.

DRIVER LEFT ACCIDENT

Approximately $10 damage was done to a car driven by O. A. Anderson, 1060 McDonald Crescent, Nanaimo, in Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon, when it was struck by another car which was driven away from the scene, city police reported.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND ON LOT 'FOR SALE'

City police traffic squad investigators were checking an unusual case today in connection with a stolen car.

Taken Saturday night by some "teen-agers," it was found Sunday morning on a used car lot with a "for sale" sign on it.

It is the property of J. Victor Wilson, 630 Foul Bay Road, who made an unsuccessful attempt to stop the boys when he spotted them driving away from the parking lot.

Rail Tie-up May Delay Opening Of New Junior High

The current rail strike may cause a delay in opening the new S. Jay Willis Junior High School on Topaz Avenue, but for the bulk of Greater Victoria's 10,000 schoolchildren it will be back to pencils and books come Sept. 5.

School will open again on the traditional day after Labor Day date, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, announced today.

The rail strike holding up some supplies and equipment and "other conditions" have affected progress of construction, he said. A staff of 23, under B. C. Gillie, principal, has already been selected.

$100 TRIP

See The World On Foot, Says Bermuda Man

If you would like to see the world on $200 or less, then get a pair of stout shoes and start walking, advises 23-year-old Keith Bower.

Mr. Bower, a stocky physical education teacher from Bermuda, arrived in Victoria during the week-end after hitch-hiking for 43 days through 14 states and provinces, at a cost of $100. He is now relaxing at the home of Fred Billet, 408 Dallas Road, before starting his return journey.

Mr. Bower said he had no trouble getting lifts across the country. He carried a 50-pound pack and slept and ate outdoors most of the time.

Next year he plans a jaunt to the West Indies or South America.

"It's a good way of seeing the country if you haven't too much money," the hitch-hiker said. "But make sure you have a good pair of shoes."

Celebrant Loses Car

A man who went on a drinking spree Saturday afternoon found himself in an awkward situation when he sobered up later in the day. He had to enlist city police aid to find his car. He had forgotten where he left it.

JULY RECORD MONTH

More B.C. Residents Holiday Near Home

More British Columbians are vacationing this year in their own province, the provincial Department of Trade and Industry said today in reporting tourist traffic during July reached an all-time high.

"There are indications the domestic tourist trade is showing an upward trend," the report said. "More people are becoming conscious of the great vacation attractions in our own province."

On the traffic from outside the province, the department said 42,89 foreign vehicles entered B.C. on traveler's vehicle permits, compared with 42,592 in July last year.

We saw the greatest volume of any month on record during July," it was stated.

Figures for the seven-month period to July 31 show an increase over the same period of last year, too. In the first seven months of this year there were 117,459 cars which crossed border points, against 115,61 up to the end of July last year.

SHOPPING GUIDE

From Holidays To Ironing
All In One Easy Jump!

By PENNY SAVER

Hi there, everyone! Home is the sailor, home from the sea... if you can call going from Victoria to Seattle the sea! 'Twas a great holiday and this girl is full of vim, vigor and vitality, and the next guy who asks me where I'm going next year is going to lose his front teeth!

But enuf with this jocular, let's take a look around our own town. Possibly you've already spotted the wonderful foam rubber ironing board cover, but for those who haven't, just give a listen. The soft-as-a-cloud cover has been made to fit a standard-sized board and will wash as clean as a mother cat pruned her wee offspring. Once you've placed a covering over the foam rubber you can cease worrying about jamming the iron into zippers, buttons, hooks and such. This $3.49 cover will permit your iron to sail smoothly over their very tops.

On the subject of ironing... and isn't there oodles of it after a holiday fling... 89 cents will buy you a dandy press cloth. Don't know about you, but very often when in a great rush I'll grab just about anything and use it to press one of my skirts. Consequently my skirt is sometimes worn with rather an angora look about it. This 13-by-30-inch cloth... the perfect size for the pressing of the good man's trousers... holds no fuzz, fluff or lint. Does great things for the dressmaker too.

Now they're making hats for milk bottles... for 59 cents at that! Atop the plastic cap... which fits snugly over the milk bottle mouth... sits a spout. The spout can be opened ready for action by merely turning the spout to the right or left. Hygienic with a capital H.

I must tell you about the little life saver I took along on my holidays. It cost me all of 15 pennies. I might add. Very much like a snood, the bandeau is about three or four inches wide and is attached to matching grosgrain ribbons to tie up your bonny brown hair. Many's the time I emerged from the sea, locks dripping and bedraggled, and after drying my tousled mopet was glad to tie on that wee bandeau. You'll find them in colors of red, green and blue. It's a great little pin curler hider too!

Have snooped through stores in Seattle and Portland comparing prices. Markets are really a joy! Imagine potatoes, three pounds for 10 cents and gladioli, 50 cents a dozen.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

There is no one answer to why a sleeping baby should waken at night and cry. It might be hunger, as often the last meal of the day is less "heartly" than is necessary for sound slumber. It might be, that the baby sleeps too much in daytime and has its wakeful hours at night. If ignored by the sleepy parents, it would cry. Here are two other reasons why children have been peevish at night.

Mrs. H. A. D. writes, "When my boy was about two years old he began to waken at nap-time and scream and kick his legs. Later, he began doing this at night. We tried everything and finally took him to a doctor. She could find nothing wrong, until I mentioned that his toenail on one foot was very thick. The doctor attributed this to pressure on the wrong part of his foot.

"We had special insoles made for his shoes (though he had been wearing a corrective shoe) and this prevented him from toeing out as he had been doing. In three days he was a different child. He had been walking in a way which strained his muscles and at night the pain woke him up. There is no more crying and kicking, now, except when he goes bare-footed. I have received so many good ideas from your column so I am passing this one on." "Our baby is almost nine months old," writes Mrs. M. A. P., "and recently he began waking and crying at night. I always found him dry but in a moment he would wet. So I felt that this was the reason he awakened.

"I try to get to him as quickly as possible and after I remove his diaper I cuddle him a little until he ceases crying. Then I put him on the potty and he voids. I have found that he is subject to nightmares when he has been hurt or frightened in the daytime. My baby didn't have any teeth until a week ago and now he has two, shiny ones."

"Thank you both for writing and you can see how different are these two cases yet both of them had to do with babies who cried in the night.

It is just possible, Mrs. M. A. P., that the coming of those two teeth had something to do with the baby's fretfulness. Every mother knows that babies do act fussy, lose their appetites and show some signs of discomfort though the mother may not recognize their causes until the baby cuts a tooth.

Our leaflet No. 38 "Hours of Sleep" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Is Marriage Based on Companionship Better Than No Marriage At All? Woman of 40 Wonders

Dear Mary Haworth: Is a marriage based on companionship and understanding, even without love, better than no marriage at all? I am a woman of 40 and have never been married.

Twice I have planned to marry. The first time I was in an accident and when I recuperated, the man had married someone else. A few years later I fell in love again—but this man wanted to wait until after the war. When he returned I found I didn't love him as I had at first, so I moved to another city in search of new opportunities.

Since then I've had other marriage proposals which I refused, as I didn't love the men who asked. Now I am 40 and beginning to wonder if love means so much any more.

DRIFTER, EASILY BORED

During the last year I went with a fine man my own age, well educated, ambitious and dependable, whom I greatly respect and admire, but do not love. I know Henry loved me and he often said he would give anything in the world if I loved him. I could have married him, but instead I moved away. I felt this was best for both of us. But I have been very lonely since; I miss his wonderful companionship.

Looking back over the years I wonder if I have expected too much. I wonder now if marriage based on companionship and understanding, even without love, isn't better at my age than no marriage at all? Do you think such a marriage could be a happy one? Or would it fail because I did not love the man, and also because I have been independent for so long?

I've traveled a great deal and always have been able to adjust to any mode of life very easily, but I would get bored with people and jobs and places. However, I have changed a great deal lately; I am tired of traipsing around. I really want to settle down—if it is to late.—L. G.

SEEKS SECURITY, OVERLOOKS LIVING

Dear L. G.: It appears that your life may be likened to a vast plain of loneliness, in which you have searched hither and yon for an oasis of contentment, never finding sanctuary anywhere.

This sensation of being a lone traveler in life, somehow unable to catch up with the procession, or with a vision of fulfillment that remains just out of reach, isn't uncommon. But it isn't so much a symptom of "expecting too much" as it is proof that one hasn't known how to relate himself to the main body of society.

It is an old saying that "Life is what you make it"—and all the life you'll ever have is simply an extension of what goes

Bread Standards In United States To Be Nationalized By Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed national standard for bread—setting forth what the family loaf should contain and in what quantities—has been announced in the United States federal register.

This official government publication presented the proposed standard as drawn up by the food and drug administration after hearings held over the last nine years. It is due to be adopted after 30 days, unless exceptions are filed in the meantime.

If adopted, it would apply only to bread shipped or sold in interstate commerce. It would, however, also provide a future working basis for uniform state standards, food and drug officials said.

The proposed new standards would permit bread containing soy flour up to 3 per cent of the weight of the flour used to be sold as white bread.

They would require that the weight of raisins in raisin bread be not less than half the weight of the flour used.

They would allow whole wheat bread also to be sold as Graham bread or "entire wheat."

Breads made from white flour mixed with whole wheat flour or with cracked wheat or crushed wheat would have to be properly identified in their names as to the wheat ingredients used, and could not be sold simply as "wheat bread."

Milk bread would have to contain milk, or non-fat dry milk solids and milk fat in prescribed amounts, as the wetting ingredient instead of water.

Maximum and minimum limits on thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron for enriched white bread also were set forth in the proposed standards. Many states require that white bread be so enriched.

Cary Castle's New Chatelaine With Grandchildren

In her first official picture, Mrs. Clarence Wallace, wife of British Columbia's new Lieutenant-Governor, poses in the drawing-room at "Devonia," the Wallace home in Vancouver, with her grandchildren, of whom she is very proud—Clarence Andrew, 1½, left, his sister Susan, 4½, right, children of Mr. and Mrs. David Wallace, and Heather, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wallace. When the Wallaces come to Government House in October there is no doubt their grandchildren will be frequent visitors to their parents. "I hope Victoria will like my family," Mrs. Wallace says, "especially my two charming daughters-in-law." Mrs. David Wallace is the former Miss Bobbie Golding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Golding, Vancouver, and Mrs. Richard Wallace, the former Joan McKee, daughter of Senator and Mrs. S. S. McKee.—(Photo by R. H. Marlowe, Vancouver)

Margaret Wright, William G. Dempsey Exchange Rings In Candlelit Rites

Principals in a double-ring wedding service by candlelight Saturday evening will go to Seattle to make their home, following a wedding trip to Banff and Jasper.

They are Margaret Jean Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wright, Avon Court, Vancouver Street, and William George Dempsey son of Mrs. J. P. Dempsey, Hollywood Crescent, and the late Mr. Dempsey.

The groom, attended by Eric Gee, Vancouver, as best man, will enter his final year at University of Washington Dental School.

Baskets of gladioli, in muted summer hues, decorated First United Church for the ceremony conducted by Rev. Moir A. J. Waters.

The mellow glow of white candles at either side of the altar enhanced the lustrous tone of the graceful, old-world satin gown worn by the bride. Tiny covered buttons fastened the slim bodice from the sweetheart neckline to the flared skirt ending in a full train. Long sleeves were V-pointed over the wrists.

Her headpiece, fashioned in Empress Josephine mode of white net edged in orange blossoms, held her billowing veil of embroidered net. An heirloom pearl necklace was her only jewelry and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and white sweet peas.

Mrs. R. G. Lammers, Prince George, the former Louise Lyne of this city, was matron of honor, in gleaming turquoise taffeta. Miss Shirley Clay, niece of the groom, came from Port Angeles to attend as bridesmaid. She wore peach taffeta.

Their gowns repeated the styling of the bridal model. They wore Empress Josephine hats and mitts in tone and carried arm bouquets of gladioli and larkspur.

Little Gail Randall, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. Her full-skirted buttercup yellow frock of taffeta was complemented with mitts and poke bonnet in tone, and she carried a colonial posse.

Roland Braley and Edward Estlin, cousins of the bride and groom, were ushers. Mrs. C. A. Goodwin sang "I'll Walk Beside You," accompanied by Charles Palmer at the organ.

A three-tier cake was cut with a silver sword by the young couple at a reception in Olde England Inn. White candles and sweet peas decorated the table. Mrs. Dempsey chose a soft green dressmaker suit with matching topcoat, cocoa brown feathered hat and matching shoes, and corsage bouquet of yellow roses for traveling.

Doreen Laird Chooses Satin For Marriage To S. G. Hawkes

In traditional mode, a Saturday evening bride, Miss Lorna Doreen Laird, chose heavy white slipper satin for her wedding gown.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Laird, 1639 Pembroke Street, repeated marriage vows with Stanley George Hawkes, son of Mrs. H. Hawkes, 1867 Forrester Street, and the late Mr. Hawkes, in St. Aidan's United Church.

Rev. T. G. Griffiths officiated. White gladioli placed before the chancel rail created the setting for the bride. She carried crimson roses, white carnations and heather in her bouquet. Clouds of illusion veiling misted her satin gown.

A round bouquet of pink gladioli tips repeating the tones of her taffeta gown and headpiece was carried by Miss Sigrid Johnson, maid of honor. Miss Marilyn Saunders, junior bridesmaid for her cousin, was frocked in blue tulle with matching headpiece.

She carried a round bouquet of gladioli tips in tone. Gordon Hawkes, brother of the groom from Vancouver, was best man. Ushering were James Timms and Donald Laird, brother of the bride. Mrs. T. G. Griffiths presided at the organ.

Hampton Hall was decorated with profusions of Picardy gladioli, mauve and white asters and roses, for the reception. Pink carnations flanked the three-tier wedding cake on the bride's table. F. Druce proposed the toast.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkes will make their home in this city. The bride wore a forest green crepe afternoon dress, taupe topcoat and cocoa accessories.

Guests From Australia At Supper Party Reunion

A welcome home on holiday was played musically by William Tickle and his Empress Hotel Orchestra Saturday night, when they rendered "Waltzing Matilda" at the supper dance in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marrs, visiting here from Sydney, Australia. They arrived Friday aboard the Aorangi.

The party was a family reunion for Mr. Marrs, who played in Victoria orchestras before leaving here 22 years ago. In the group were his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Marrs, and sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Peterson.

The Saturday evening supper dance was also chosen by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Whitfield and Major and Mrs. J. D. Elliott for a quiet celebration. Major and Mrs. Elliott, who have spent the past two years in United States, motored from the east and are spending a week in this city. They will return to England shortly.

A Buffet Supper At Cobble Hill Home

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Jackson entertained more than 100 Victoria friends at a buffet supper last Saturday evening at "Madronas," their Cobble Hill home.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jackson entertained more than 50 up-island friends at an early-evening party at their home.

Return From Trip Abroad

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paulding returned on the week-end to their home, 360 Foul Bay Road, after a three-month visit in the British Isles and Western Europe. They spent a short time in New York prior to sailing from Quebec for England where they visited relatives. They returned to Canada aboard the Ascania, disembarking at Montreal; traveled by train to Edmonton, where they stopped through the strike and from there by bus to Seattle, in order to reach Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Paulding, who were closely connected with work at the Y.M.C.A. for many years, list as highlights of their trip, their visits to New York, London and Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Field, Midland Way, have been recent visitors at Jasper Park Lodge in the Canadian Rockies.

Mrs. Jack Harvey, Mrs. Dolly Darling and Mr. T. Edward Clark are Victorians who have registered at British Columbia House, London, Eng., since Aug. 21. Also registering from Vancouver Island was Mrs. Thelma Harding, Alberni.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laird and Mr. and Mrs. C. Hammett came from Vancouver to attend the Hawkes-Laird wedding Saturday evening in St. Aidan's United Church. St. Major Alice Saunders, Salvation Army, Toronto, Ont., was also among the out-of-town guests.

Among out-of-town guests at the Tucker-Markland wedding Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. S. Topham and Miss Mary Topham, Winnipeg; Mrs. F. Plumb, Vancouver; Miss C. Smith, London, Eng.; and Mrs. F. Willmore, Parksville, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Long, Crofton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Milton, 108 Cadillac Avenue have had as their guests their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Arnett and their children, Barbara and Betsy of Berkeley, Calif. The Arnetts, who enjoyed seeing many points of interest on Vancouver Island, left again for their California home on Saturday.

Victoria friends of Mrs. Norman MacKenzie, wife of the president of University of British Columbia, will be interested to learn that she and her daughter, Miss Susan MacKenzie have returned to their Vancouver home from a month's holiday in the Rocky Mountains. During the last week of their stay Dr. MacKenzie joined them and came home with his family.

Guests here for the marriage of Miss Margaret Wright to Mr. William George Dempsey Saturday evening were Mrs. R. G. Lammers, Prince George; Mr. Eric Gee, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clay and Miss Shirley and Mr. Bud Clay of Port Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wilfong, Seattle; Mr. N. Martin, Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. R. Dickson, North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. Baylis, Qualicum; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Anderson and Billy and David, Seattle.

Lieut. and Mrs. J. W. Green, with their children, Len and Noel, who have spent the summer in this city, where Lieut. Green was a cadet instructor at Combined Services College, Royal Roads, left Sunday morning for Winnipeg, where Lieut. Green will take a similar position as a cadet instructor at the university in Winnipeg. Lieut. and Mrs. Green were guests of the latter's mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hedley, 1166 Chapman Street, before their departure this week-end.

In honor of Mrs. Don MacLeod, the former Margaret Mainwaring, a miscellaneous shower was given recently by Miss Celia Gorr, 325 Davida Avenue. Guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and heather, and gifts were contained in a decorated "wishing well." Invited guests were Mesdames R. McMin, G. Marshall, W. Hocking, E. Marsh, C. Olive, Misses I. Morash, M. Hind, Edna Lake, Eileen Alder, Doreen Hardy, Shirley Hayhurst, Maureen Campbell, Kay Stewart, Violet Seymour and Gerry Nash.

MISS AMERICA MOST LIKELY VILLAGE GIRL

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—There are more good-looking girls in small towns than in big cities. And that's not because there are more small towns than there are big cities, either.

Proof of this beauty pudding is in the looking. It's getting on to Miss America time again and this year most of the entrants are from small towns.

Canada's entrant is 19-year-old Margaret Eleanor Bradford of Windsor, Ont. (pop. 105,000).

STEWARDESS WILL RETIRE ON CONDITION

VANCOUVER (CP)—Seafaring stewardess Mary Peck says she'll settle down—but only on conditions.

She wants a home overlooking the sea, time to entertain her seafaring friends and the chance for an occasional short cruise.

"I'd settle for that," says the brown-haired stewardess, who has visited all the continents, seen all the seas, and sailed through both Panama and Suez Canals.

Miss Peck, who resumed her maiden name after her husband's death eight years ago, has spent five years as stewardess on Swedish and Norwegian ships. She is visiting her eight-year-old daughter and parents at nearby New Westminster.

Air Passenger Traffic Sets Record At Pat Bay

German Urges Britain Try To Unite Europe

STRASBOURG, France (Reuters)—The Council of Europe Assembly, beginning the last and stiffest lap of its 23-day session, today heard a German representative break into English and appeal, presumably to Britain, for a bolder effort to unite Europe.

The German, Christian Democrat Carl von Campe, was speaking in the debate on steps to closer union.

"I should like to address a strong appeal to our European friends who are not yet ready to take decisive action," he said in English.

"Do not forget there are millions of people all over Europe looking at us full of hope and waiting for action. Do not let them wait in vain."

The Assembly was considering a plan which, it was hoped, would be a working compromise between those who call for immediate European federation and those who insist on caution.

C.C.F. Condemns Policing Switch

Provincial Council of the C.C.F. has condemned the Coalition government for transferring the B.C. police to the R.C.M.P.

At a Vancouver meeting over the week-end the council passed a resolution pledging itself to fight for the prevention of further discrimination against members of the old force and for the protection of the civil liberties of all residents of the province.

Colwood Planning Fall Fair Sept. 8

Plans for the Colwood Autumn Fair, sponsored by Colwood Community Club and Colwood Women's Institute, to be held Sept. 8, are now in the final stage.

Officials expect a large number of entries and advise competitors that entries should be given to Mrs. B. W. Parker, R.R. No. 1, by Sept. 6. They may also be taken at the hall Sept. 7 and up to 11 the morning of the fair.

Garden produce, home cooking, handicraft and needlework will be displayed and there will be a special children's stall.

Victorian Serving At Pearl Harbor Base

Lester Duncan Sinclair, chief storekeeper, U.S.N., of 808 Russell Street, Victoria, is serving at the U.S. Naval Submarine Base, Pearl Harbor.

HURT WHILE DIVING

Injured in a diving accident while swimming at Elk Lake Saturday afternoon, Mrs. F. C. Smith, 3144 Carrol Street, was taken to Jubilee Hospital and released after observation showed no serious injury. She was taken to hospital in the Saanich police ambulance in a stunned condition.

$225 DAMAGE

A Belleville and Douglas Streets accident at 12.20 Sunday morning caused $225 damage to cars driven by George N. Donaldson, 312 St. James Street, and Archibald S. K. Steel, 530 Atkins Road, Langford, city police reported.

On Friday, the number of air travelers passing through the airport was just over 1,100. Sunday traffic was somewhat less.

On the record-breaking Saturday, there were 25 flights to Vancouver and three to Seattle. Nearly all planes carried full loads.

"It was a hectic day for the staff," one company official observed. "But we expect things won't be quite so busy during the next few days."

Business is expected to pick up again as the week progresses. If coast steamships are not running, it is probable an even greater demand will be put on the service for the Labor Day week-end.

Today, Trans-Canada Air Lines had 19 flights scheduled between here and Vancouver, nine more than normal, and two flights between here and Seattle, which is normal service.

Black Ball Ferry Service Boosted By C.P.R. Strike

The Black Ball Ferry Line has increased service on the Sidney-Anacortes run to bring the number of sailings between the island and the mainland to nine a day.

The extra trip on the run from Sidney was added Saturday night and will be continued for as long as C.P.R. coastal steamships are strike-bound. The extra sailing brings to three the number of round trips between the two peninsula points.

The Black Ball Line has five daily sailings now between Victoria and Port Angeles and one daily trip between here and Seattle.

Week-end travel aboard the Black Ball vessels was good, but not as heavy as earlier last week.

Pennant Races Tighten Up As Leaders Lose

Boston Comes From Behind, Wins 15-14

NEW YORK (Special)—The American League pennant race sewed itself into the tightest knot it has seen in years today, when Boston Red Sox came from behind to beat Cleveland 15 to 14 after being down 10 to 2 in the fourth.

The New York Yankees, meanwhile were losing 6 to 4 to Chicago White Sox, while league-leading Detroit Tigers suffered a 4 to 3 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Athletics.

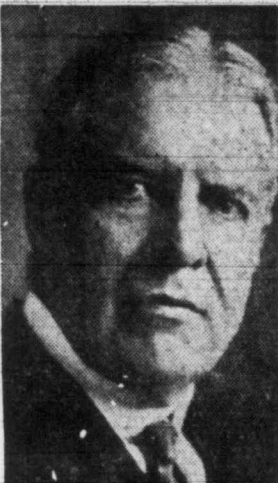

The Philadelphia Phillies had a game of their lead in the National League race sliced off when they were beaten 7 to 5 by the Chicago Cubs in a game highlighted by three successive home runs off the bat of Hank Sauer.

Sauer hit his homers the first three times at bat before he was purposely passed during a three-run Cubs outburst in the seventh inning. During this rally, the Cubs knocked Curt Simmons out of the box.

Without discounting the importance of the North Korean smash toward Taegu and at Uihang, an intelligence officer at MacArthur's headquarters said the next big drive was not yet under way. He expressed belief that one Red division, the 2nd, holds the key to it.

SIR HENRY DRAYTON

Sir H. Drayton, Formerly Of Victoria, Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Henry Drayton, prominent Conservative and former Minister of Finance, died today at a hotel in Muskoka. He was 81.

Knighted in 1915 for his work on Canada's railway problems, he became Federal Finance Minister in 1919 and held office until 1921.

One of Canada's outstanding statesmen and businessmen, Sir Henry came here in 1942 in connection with wartime copper concentrates at Mount Slicker. In November, 1943, he married Mrs. John Musgrave.

In the general election of 1925 he was returned for the West York, Ont., constituency with the largest majority ever received in Canada.

No Secret In His Business, Says Anscomb

Fight Looming For October Convention

Fight at the October convention of the Progressive Conservative Party in Vancouver over attempts to remove Hon. Herbert Anscomb as provincial leader loomed large today.

Mr. Anscomb issued a statement to break the silence which followed a demand of Young Progressive Conservative Association that he resign as leader or resign directorates he holds in the brewery and winery businesses.

His statement indicated he will have a lot to say from the convention platform.

Mr. Anscomb said: "During the many years I have held public office it has been well known to the public that my business interests were in the brewing and wine industries of this province, in addition to my private interests in other chartered accounts."

During the last 25 years I have held posts successfully of Reeve of Oak Bay, Mayor of Victoria, and for about 18 years member of the Legislature.

During almost 10 years of the 18, I have been an M.L.A., I have been a minister of the Crown.

"I have on numerous occasions stated publicly what my business interests are, and in 1946, at which time it was public knowledge that I held the directorates which are now the subject of comment (Growers' Winery and Coast Breweries), I was elected leader of the Conservative Party at the most largely attended convention in the history of the party in British Columbia.

"In view of this fact, it is proper that anything further I have to say on this subject should be said at the Conservative convention in October."

Today, there were no moves in any direction towards a settlement before Parliament takes action. Union leaders met here, but did not take any action along this line.

Meanwhile, transport-crippled Canada almost certainly faced three more days of the strike.

SOLID SUPPORT At the week-end the country's two major labor organizations—Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada—came out with a joint statement saying their membership of nearly 1,000,000 Canadian workers stand "100 per cent" behind the 17 unions involved in the strike.

The statement, issued by Percy Bengough, T.L.C. president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the C.C.L., said that Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, has been acting as chief spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railway—"the largest privately-owned corporation in Canada."

But Won't Like It, Union Leader Declares

OTTAWA (CP)—Striking rail employees will go back to work if Parliament orders it, Frank H. Hall, co-leader in the strike, said today in an interview.

"If a law is passed ordering the men to go back, they will obey it, but they won't like it," said Mr. Hall, chief spokesman for 90,000 international union members among the 124,000 embraced in the stoppage.

"If the law requires resumption of negotiations," Mr. Hall added, "the unions no doubt will comply."

Mr. Hall's statement came as the cabinet was meeting to draft emergency legislation for ending the strike, which is to be presented before a special session of Parliament convening tomorrow afternoon.

The cabinet rose at 1.15 p.m., E.D.T., after meeting 2 3/4 hours, but at the conclusion Prime Minister St. Laurent told reporters he could say nothing on what the ministers were doing.

The Prime Minister said he could not even state whether the cabinet had settled on the course of action it will follow. It was called to meet at 3 p.m.

Mr. Hall's declaration that the unions would resume work in response to a Parliamentary order indicated it might not be found necessary to attach penalty provisions to any directives that might be issued from the government.

NOT EXPECTED Dealing with a published report that the government might abrogate certain seniority and pension rights of employees if they refused to obey a back-to-work offer, Mr. Hall said he did not think "for a minute" the government would do anything to prejudice employees' pensions.

The union leader also reiterated that the strikers would be opposed to compulsory arbitration—reported as one means that might be used by the government to clear up the differences between the railways and unions.

Today, there were no moves in any direction towards a settlement before Parliament takes action. Union leaders met here, but did not take any action along this line.

City Wholesale Butter Price Up One Cent

Victoria housewives will have to pay a cent more for a pound of butter if retailers pass on a price increase to the consumer.

Wholesale price of butter jumped from 56 to 57 cents a pound in Victoria today. Butter prices, however, remained unchanged in most retail stores, selling between 60 and 63 cents a pound.

It was also reported that beef may go up 1 cent a pound to cover the cost of feeding by packers who bought before the rail strike started, and who have also had to take a weight loss in keeping in stock.

Meat prices were going up in the east, and a price increase in B.C. might follow, a dealer said.

$2,200 Snatch Fails; 2 Held

TORONTO (BUP)—A $2,200 bank deposit was snatched from a messenger on Toronto's downtown, Young Street this afternoon.

The detectives recovered the money and arrested two suspects seven minutes later.

The messenger was employed by Kresge's Store at 400 Young. The men roughed him, grabbed his brief case and ran down Bay Street where Detectives James Morgan and Barney Loveridge made the arrest.

Bull Kills Farmer

BRONTE, Ont. (CP)—Joseph Samborski, 49-year-old farmer, was gored to death by an enraged bull Sunday.

Restore Peace In Philippines After 78 Dead

MANILA (AP)—It was quiet in this Philippines capital today—in sharp contrast to the weekend of terror in nearby communities in which 78 persons were killed in guerrilla raids.

Widely-scattered rumors that Communist-led Hugalalah guerrillas would attack Manila proved groundless.

Guards ringed Manila and other central Luzon cities Sunday night—on the alert against a continuation of raids which began Friday night. National defence headquarters reported 78 persons were killed, nine missing and 66 wounded in attacks on 12 small towns.

The defence department reported 35 Hukos were among the 78 slain in raids on San Rafael, 30 miles northeast of Manila, and other towns.

Today, there were no moves in any direction towards a settlement before Parliament takes action. Union leaders met here, but did not take any action along this line.
